Opposition Continues to Mount

Rocky Still Favors Jetport at Stewart

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Despite local opposition to the plan, Governor Rockefeller says he still favors turning Stewart airfield at Newburgh into New York City's fourth jetport.

But the governor emphasizes a "gradual development" of the site, perhaps taking as long as 20 years.

Rockefeller's position was revealed Wednesday in a news conference after he met with nine officials of five major airlines on the Stewart question.

"This has got to be something that isn't built all at once," he said. "It's got to grow with the demand."

He said the first steps would use $30 million, if approved this year, to buy 11,000 acres of land and to harden the existing runway.

After that, he said, terminals might be expanded, flights increased, and a high speed rail link with Manhattan constructed.

"The maximum development will be closer to 20 years than to two," he said, when asked about a timetable.

The airline executives meeting with Rockefeller, Assembly Speaker Perry Duryea, and Senate GOP Leader Earl Brydges represented United, Eastern, American, Pan American and Trans World Airlines.

At first they feared any additional expenses during a time

New Paltz Town Board is asked to take a firm stand against the proposed jetport at Stewart Field in Newburgh.

of economic downturns, Rockefeller said, but when he explained the slow development "they were delighted and were unanimous in their support on that basis."

The governor thought the airline compliance had improved of reasonable suburban and the chances of the legislature rural living transcend dollar approving the project.

He noted local opposition remains divided.

"The development of jobs is going to be a major feature for this community," he said, noting Kennedy Airport employs 55,000 persons.

Despite the Governor's gradual development plans and his optimism, one of the jetport's bitterest foes, Assemblyman Emee S. Betros (R-Dutchess) remains staunchly opposed to the proposed facility.

Betros conceded that there are some business and commercial benefits associated with the jetport but says, "I submit that the good of our environment and the maintenance Saying, "The purity of the very air we breathe and the tranquility of the entire Mid-

Hudson area are threatened by the runway tentacles of a sprawling gigantic jetport," Betros asserted, "Our health and our children's future are at stake."

Betros claimed that polls taken in the Newburgh area indicate "80 per cent opposition to the jetport" and he believed this sentiment was duplicated in Dutchess County.

Orange County Republican Party Chairman William E. Doulin, saying "I've always been a reasonable man," has switched from support of the jetport to support of a cargo facility at Stewart.

In the past he has called for the development of Stewart into a major jetport like Kennedy International or La Guardia.

Doulin cited local "dissension" over the jetport as the reason for his switch.

Newburgh Mayor George F. McKneally, a jetport supporter, opposed the idea of a cargo port at Stewart on the grounds that "experts have already said there is no such thing," cargo airports (as) practically

According to McKneally, last week an official of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) said there is "no justification for an all-cargo airport now or in the foreseeable future at any location."

FAA officials told Orange County Executive Louis V. Mills, in response to his inquiry about the criteria for a cargo jetport and a passenger jetport at Stewart, that the agency "does not establish planning and design criteria on the hypothesis that an airport will be either a cargo airport or a passenger airport."

The FAA further stated, "In fact, we do not favor, nor does the airline industry favor, all-cargo airports (as) practically Assemblyman H. Clark Sena (R-Woodstock) and State Senator Jay P. Rolison (R-Dutchess, Ulster) are opposed to the Governor's plan to devote $30 million to "land" acquisition around Stewart. Bell wishes further study on the matter.

DRAFT OFFICE . . . SCENE OF PREVIOUS PROTESTS

Planned Protests Set Against the Draft

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON Attention will be focused on America's "military mentality" during a two-day, planned protest session here.

Today and Friday, draft board workers and military recruiters in Kingston will be confronted by university students and townspeople from throughout Ulster County. Some protestors have said that they will turn in their draft cards Friday morning.

The protestors, at least half of them students from the State University College at New Paltz, will demonstrate against "mandatory" service they say is exemplified by this country's Selective Service System.

In its place, the protestors will call for a system of "voluntary service" to mankind, based on adoption of the Christian ethic.

Today at 2 p. m. members of the group were scheduled to meet at Academy Green, and then move across the street to the offices of Local Boards 18 and 19, where they were scheduled to address local Draft Board workers.

There, they planned to "question the inhuman quality of the Draft Board and the job it works to perform. Protestors also planned to discuss war and the draft with the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine recruiters in their offices at Broadway and Maiden Lane.

Katie Gordon, a member of the Group for the Reconciliation of People Everywhere (GROPE) the organization sponsoring the "draft board action," said "We'll be asking the draft board workers to quit their jobs."

What luck they'll have in this respect remains to be seen. A spokesman for the local Draft Board, Mrs. Shirley McCarty, its supervising executive secretary, declined to comment on the philosophies of the protest movement, but she did emphasize that the local offices will remain open throughout the day.

"As long as they're orderly, fine, we'll talk with them and answer their questions," said Mrs. McCarty, "but if they're in large groups, or if they're disorderly, then we'll close up and lock the doors."

Mike Stamm, a political science major at New Paltz State and one of the organizers of the protest, said, "We have made every effort to avoid a confrontation." He said the protest will be orderly and peaceful and that it will represent the ideals of non-violence, but not "passive resistance."

But Stamm warned that "There is a definite risk involved," referring to plans by several of the group's members to turn in their draft cards

Friday morning, an action that could result in their arrest. If convicted, the offenders could be subject to a $10,000 fine and/or a five-year prison sentence.

Despite Stamm's promises of an orderly demonstration, Kingston Police will be keeping a close watch on the proceedings, but Acting Chief Julius Glassman has said that he does not expect any trouble.

Organizers of the demonstration have gone through all the necessary channels to avoid violation of the law. They've received permission from local authorities to gather at Academy Green and to conduct a "vigil" in front of the Selective Service offices tonight.

The "vigil" was originally supposed to last throughout the night, but Stamm said Wednesday that he will honor a request by Chief Glassman to suspend the sit-in at midnight tonight and to resume it early Friday morning.

Other activities planned include a "festival of life," beginning at 6 p.m. tonight at Forsyth Park.

GROPE was formed recently on the New Paltz campus, and its primary activity has been to send medical relief, through Canada, to Vietnam.

While about half of those expected to participate in the demonstration are students at New Paltz, there will also be a contingent from Woodstock and Ulster County Community College.

Both Stamm and Jack Riley, another of the group's leaders, were among the 151 persons arrested for participating in the Quaker Vigil outside the White House April 25. Pete Rode, another member of the group, was arrested with the Vietnam veterans at the Supreme Court building in Washington, D.C. recently.

Food Stamp Crackdown Favored Here

KINGSTON

A move to curb the number of food stamp recipients who may or may not be entitled to them depending upon income and residency requirements, is being made by federal authorities who hope to put the new guidelines into effect by Sept. 1.

Locally, the new regulations would be welcomed with regard to the increasing number of college students and young people who get food stamps because they live in so-called "households" off-campus, away from parental homes and in communes.

Under the new regulations, a household is defined as follows: "All members of a household under 60 years of age must be related by blood, affinity or other legal relationship, sanctioned by state law, in order for the household to be eligible for food stamps. Foster, adopted and other children under 18 years old may be in the household. Also, an unrelated roomer or boarder is not considered part of the household, and will not disqualify the household from the food stamp program."

Special

With regard to tax dependents, the regulations state that "no household could be allotted food stamps if it has a member over 18 years old who is claimed as dependent for federal income tax purposes by a member of another household which itself is not eligible for either food stamps or USDA donated foods.

Such a regulation would do away with a large amount of college students now getting food stamps who are claimed by their parents as dependents.

Eligibility for the food stamp program will be determined according to uniform national standards set by the secretary of agriculture. Monthly maximum income eligibility levels would be as follows: one person, $160; two, $210; three, $293; four, $360; five, $427; six, $493; seven, $547 and eight, $600. For each additional person add $53.

Resources other than income, such as savings accounts, negotiable securities and certain property, would be limited to $1,500 for households of two or more containing a member 65 years of age or over.

Excluded from resources are the value of such things as a home, household goods, car, personal effects, cash value of life insurance policies, income-producing property, and tools and machinery essential to self-support. However, resources would include such other types of unliquid assets as buildings, land or other real or personal property, at fair market value.

If the household has an able-bodied member between 18 and 65, he must cooperate in seeking and accepting employment of a type and in a location reasonably consistent with physical and mental fitness.

Those not included in this group include those responsible for the care of dependent children under 18 or incapacitated adults. Also a student enrolled at least half time in any school or training program recognized by any federal, state or local agency. Also, anyone working at least 30 hours a week.

Elderly participants who are so disabled or feeble that they cannot adequately prepare all of their own meals, may use food stamps to pay for "meals on wheels" delivered to them by non-profit meal services, if available.

Halfway House Closed, 11 Patients Are Involved

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

KINGSTON The Halfway House, a mental rehabilitation facility of Middletown State Hospital operating at 97-99 Clinton Avenue, Kingston, will be closed, according to Dr. Amore Del Giudice, MSH director.

Local sources revealed that all the former mental patients, who had resided at the Halfway House have either been transferred or have moved to other local boarding facilities. About 11 former patients were involved.

Dr. Del Giudice said that due to state budget cutbacks, the facility in Kingston will be turned over to the jurisdiction of Hudson River State Hospital at Poughkeepsie. The doctor said he believed that the closing would only be temporary and should be reopened by HRSH at a later date. The former residents of the house were all employed in Kingston area industry.

Dr. Del Giudice said that when the facility is reopened it will only house Ulster County residents who have reached the stage of rehabilitation where they can return to normal living with psychiatric care and guidance.

A local source said that the Halfway House will remain open as a community center for former patients as long as funds are available.

The Halfway House usually has five fulltime staff members and other specialized staff personnel.

Dr. Luigi Pellegrini and Dr. Anibal Herrera are visiting psychiatrists of the local facility.

The Halfway House facility was set up in Kingston in June 1965 as a residence for people who need help in the transition between psychiatric hospitalization and independent community living. The facility was originally set up with federal funds in the amount of $80,000 per year. Federal funds were cut some time ago and the state assumed the funding, Dr. Del Giudice said.

The last federal grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's National Institute of Mental Health was about $100,000 per year.

The Halfway House project was designed to speed convalescence and to help residents to regain the loss of self-confidence that is frequently caused by a psychiatric illness and hospitalization.

The local facility has room for 20 former patients who have the privilege of finding their own housing if and when they feel they are ready. However, they still have regular psychiatric treatment and this treatment is continued until they are discharged.

Many of those who were in residence here were employed by Gateway Industries of Kingston, a sheltered workshop, which helps patients return to the normal routines. There their work was evaluated and training provided to help them re-enter community industry.

At the time of the opening of the facility here, it was still considered in the pioneer stage and Kingston was one of the communities chosen for the test project.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aeberli have been supervisors of the local Halfway House since it opened in 1965. There are three housemothers from the Kingston area on the staff.

The building is the former Clinton Avenue Nursing Home.

Alice Crimmins Given Life Term in Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — Alice Crimmins, still declaring her innocence, was sentenced to life in prison today for the murder of her five-year-old son.

At the last minute her lawyer introduced a statement by an alternate juror who said newspapers were brought into the jury room during the trial.

At the same time, Queens State Supreme Court Justice George Balbach sentenced Mrs. Crimmins, 32, to a concurrent term of five to 20 years for first-degree manslaughter in the death of her four-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Crimmins is to be taken to the Westfield Penitentiary in Bedford Hills, N.Y.

Mrs. Crimmins remained calm as the sentence was pronounced.

Given an opportunity to speak, she said in a trembling voice.

"Anything you people have done to me in the past—all the lies—or anything you can do in the future, can't be worse than what was done to me seven years ago when my children were killed. I'll stand up before this court and before the whole world and say I did not kill my children."

Pointing at Asst. Dist. Atty. Thomas DeMakos and Vincent Nicolosi, she said, "I don't know who killed them. That's the truth."

A life sentence is mandatory for first-degree murder and she faces up to 20 years on the manslaughter conviction.

D.C. DEMONSTRATION—Antiwar protesters gathered in the rain on the Capitol steps Wednesday to read the names from a list of 100,000 Americans who have signed a People's Treaty declaring an immediate end to the Vietnam war. Present for the start of the 24-hour

Weather Forecast

ing records of activities and hour and mileage records; retaining fees collected for serving papers.

And Justice Herman Tietjen state that they will remain essentially a "volunteer force," but will receive a token $50 annually apiece plus $2 per hour and expenses for keeping peace on Halloween; doing special patrols; and all other required duties.

Thus, they do not meet the requirements for a special town police force such as Hyde Park's, but find their duties spelled out to give them quite flexible powers.

Other business resolved at the Town Board's lengthy session included setting dates for two public hearings and one special referendum.

The referendum on the Town Board's decision to retain three elected assessors will be held from 2.8 p.m. June 15.

A public hearing on a proposed dog law will be held at the Town Hall at 7:30 p.m. June 16. This is the work of a committee comprised of both Board members and private citizens. Noting the controversy that previous attempts to put a dog law on the books had bestirred, Supervisor William Allen facetiously suggested that Board members wear helmets to the hearing.

And a regulation of assemblages of large crowds law will be aired prior to the next regular Board meeting in June, beginning at 7:30 p.m. It specifies regulation of crowds larger than 2,500 people, partially in response to what Justice Tietjen termed "Woodstock."

A public hearing on initiation of a town Conservation Commission held before Wednesday night's meeting found all present in favor of the move, and it was later adopted.

There will be nine members on the Commission, with at least two between the ages of 16 and 21. Several persons volunteered for service on the Commission at the hearing, including Robert Love, Christopher Klose, and president of the Rhinebeck High School Ecology Club Mark Sussin.

The Board tabled action on a Dutchess County SPCA request for a contribution of $895 for this year for continued acceptance of town dogs on a first come-first served basis.

Supervisor Allen spoke against the plan because it would have the town picking up the tab for dogs brought to the shelter by private persons.

And it was suggested that a possible three-town alliance on the dog problem, among Rhinebeck, Hyde Park, and Red Hook, might be set up.

Fees were established for persons applying for special permits and variances before the recently established Zoning Board of Appeals. It was decided to charge $15 for a special permit and $20 for a variance, to cover expenses.

James Loftus officially appointed Building Inspector, with the town picking up the tab for the Zoning Enforcement Officer.

In other Town Board business, Allen noted that the town will "have to watch expenditures very closely this year" because of the several areas where the reduced state budget has resulted in less money to the town.

This includes $1,000 aid for youth recreation; about $2,400 attorney Carl Ulrich. The used road grader offered for sale to the highest bidder drew four bids, with John von der Leith taking it for $1,065.

Thomas Jubar was appointed recreation director. Since the town has received its state aid for this year, the program won't be affected this summer.

Robert Love, a resident, asked the Board's permission to clean up about three acres of land across the street from his home on his own time. The Board reserved decision pending a recommendation from der Leith taking it for $1,065.

Area Flim-Flam Suspects Sought

Search was pursued today by area authorities for four Spanish-speaking youths in their mid-20's who are wanted for questioning in an investigation of a suspected attempt to steal money at the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties on Route 28 in this community.

Meanwhile, the sheriff's office has alerted all bank officials to be on the lookout for the men, who reportedly attempted the same flim-flam method at other banks including the Rondout National Bank, Kingston, and the Phoenicia office of the Kingston Trust Company, police said. The sheriff's William B. Martin men went to the bank and said he and deputies in two cars were in the vicinity of Shokan shortly after 2 p. m. Wednesday when the alarm went off at the local bank. The sheriff's men went to the bank and office and with the cooperation of the New York Telephone Company, banks in the county and in neighboring areas were notified to be on the lookout for the men. The man who approached the bank teller was ELLEUVILLE Police throughout this area today continued search for a long-haired male who is wanted for questioning in connection with a holdup staged shortly after 9:40 p.m. Wednesday night at the Center Liquor Store at 76 1/2 Center Street, this village.

The much-sought robber reportedly escaped with more than $160 and blank checks.

At 9:44 p.m. a call was received at police headquarters from a man who shouted over the telephone, "I was just held up." The caller then hung up the receiver.

Chief William Trapnell and Officers Charles Freer, Carl Mayer and Fred Adell sped to the liquor store after the telephone call was traced. They found a clerk, Samuel Kramer of Spring Glen, in the establishment and he related details of the holdup.

Kramer said the man, a Negro, entered the store, leaped over the counter and forced him into the back room as the robber held an unidentified object against the clerk's head and cautioned, "You'll not get hurt if you don't turn around."

The thief took Kramer's wallet that contained $60, and then stole more than $100 and some blank checks from the open safe, before he fled and disappeared on Center Street. Also taken was a check made out to a realty company payable to Kramer.

Police reported the robber was described as about 5 feet 8 or 10 inches tall, medium build, and long black hair. He was wearing a three-quarter length leather jacket and dark pants.

Search of the area failed to turn up any trace of the holdup man, who may have been armed although Kramer didn't see any weapon.

Peter F. Stetek of St. Remy, a U.S. Navy veteran and operator of Pete's Body Shop, was named chairman of Esopus Town Planning Board at Wednesday night's Town Board meeting.

Mrs. Helen Oberkirk, who was named vice-chairman, announced the Planning Board election to the Town Board. Mrs. Doris Kelly was previously named by the Town Board to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Commander James E. Johnson (USN Ret.)

Stekete, who was named to the Planning Board in Sept. 1970, succeeds Chester C. DuMond Jr., who resigned as chairman to accept the position of assistant building inspector. DuMond is in line for the position of zoning enforcement officer. The town adopted zoning April 12.

Supervisor George H. Freer announced that progress was being made in the formation of the Port Ewen Sewer District and a communication from the State Project Clearinghouse advised that the Esopus project has been cleared for federal and state grants. Supervisor Freer said that Brinrier & Larios, town engineers, are updating the sewer plans in preparation for informational meeting to be scheduled this summer.

Peecer also reported that the town's equalization rate set by the state is now 15. It had been 18. He noted that the change was due to the increase of real property value. The supervisor said that a letter from Jack G. Reynolds, director of the County Real Property Tax Service Agency, advised that this was a very good rate for the town as most towns in the state dropped from 3 to 12 points. Peecer said neighboring towns also dropped in rate on an average of three points. The rate is the percentage of full value used to equalize taxation throughout the county and sets the assessed valuation of property.

Supervisor Freer said the Town Board will hold a special meeting next Wednesday 7:30 p.m. to name a tax collector to fill the unexpired term of Fred W. Wolven, who died last Saturday. The new collector will serve until Dec. 31. The tax collector's post will be on the ballot in November. Freer opened the meeting with a moment of silence in memory of Wolven who has served as tax collector for a number of years.

Building Inspector DeVall Dunbar reported that building permits valued in excess of $3,200,000 were filed during April. He also said he was studying complaints on derelict buildings in various areas and particularly in Connolly.

The Town Board authorized him to take any steps necessary to have the property owners of these derelict buildings either rehabilitate them or have them demolished. If they fail to act on the order, the town will have to take condemnation action and ultimately demolish the structures, according to law, and charge the costs on the property owners tax bill.

Stop the Jetport Committee Appeals to Paltz Board

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ — The stop the jetport movement appeared at Wednesday night's New Paltz Town Board meeting and asked the board to take a firm stand against the proposed jetport at Stewart Field in Newburgh.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brinkerhoff, co-chairman of the Concerned Citizens' Stop the Jetport Action Committee, Ulster County Branch, detailed the formation of her group, and informed the board that over 1,000 signatures had been placed upon petitions to stop the jetport in the New Paltz area. She said over 15,000 signatures had been gathered throughout the area that would be affected by the proposed facility.

She asked the board to take a firm stand against the expansion of Stewart Field into a jetport, as she said other towns had done.

Town Supervisor Anthony J. Moriello noted that the jetport had raised "a considerable amount of opposition in a short period of time." He said the board would study the material presented by Mrs. Brinkerhoff, keep abreast of the situation, and issue a statement on the issue in the future.

Sal Tantillo, representing the Highland-New Paltz Rotary Club, asked the board's permission to store junk cars on the Campbell farm property on Springtown Road. The Rotary Club is sponsoring a junk car clean-up drive in the New Paltz and Highland areas.

Tantillo said the car crusher they have contacted requires 200 cars and a firm place to operate. The Campbell farm property would satisfy the firm's requirement, and as for the 200 car requirement, Tantillo said it would be "no problem; we have 125 already without any publicity."

Tantillo is donating his three wreckers for the hauling of junk cars in the operation, and asked that persons in the New Paltz, Highland area who want junk cars hauled to the crusher contact him.

A public hearing was conducted before the meeting on the granting of a non-exclusive franchise to Vidio Control Inc. to run cable-TV lines in the North and South Ohioville Road areas of New Paltz. James Sims, Vidio Control project engineer, said he was planning to run 45 miles of cable in areas of four towns "that nobody has wanted." His cables will pass about 2500 homes, 300 of which will be in the New Paltz area.

The board tabled action on Sims' request for further study.

The board voted to place funds to pay the water bill to the village in the general fund. After the meeting, Moriello told The Freeman the funds were, in effect, being held in escrow. Moriello said the town fully intends to pay the water bill, and will do so as soon as they obtain a satisfactory accounting.

The board approved a request of the Student Government Association of State University College, New Paltz, for the use of three town voting machines, May 17 and 18 for college elections.

The town's equalization rate has been set at 12 per cent, a drop from last year's 13 per cent. Town Attorney Wendell Harp will appeal the change. The board has received fromal word that they will have to appoint an assessor, and the referendum scheduled June 5 on the question of whether to retain the elected assessor system or go to a full-time appointed one has been scrapped as the question is now academic.

Referendum Date Set in Gardiner

GARDINER — The Town of Gardiner Board set June 8 for the referendum on the question of retaining the town's current three elected assessor system or adopting the one appointed assessor plan at this week's board meeting.

The necessary public hearing on the question has been held, but an informational meeting will be held May 25 at the Gardiner Firehouse for any town residents wishing to discuss the matter further to obtain additional information.

Voting hours will be from 2 to 8 p. m.

Additional questions may be placed on the ballot to measure public sentiment. A question on dog ordinances may be added, and additional questions may appear on the ballot.

The Gardiner Fire Company has requested that a light be installed on Route 44.55 at Firehouse No. 2, and the board agreed to install it.

The Huguenot Historical Society requested that the board aid in the maintenance of the old LeFevre Cemetery on the Art McCord farm. The society said it is the burial place of the area's only signer of the Provisional Congress. The board will examine the cemetery to determine if funds should be provided for its maintenance. The town will purchase two voting machines from the Automatic Voting Machine Corp. of Jamestown.

New Planning Board officers are Reiner Thieben, chairman; Siegfried Bart, vice chairman; and Paul Mele, secretary.

House in a Squeaker Reprieve for the SST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American supersonic transport, the world's most debated aircraft, has been led through a legislative backdoor into a renewed fight for life. The stakes now may not be just two prototypes but a whole fleet of production-line SSTs.

Turning a congressional death warrant inside out, House backers of federal subsidies for the faster-than-sound, passenger plane engineered a 201-197 loophole victory Wednesday hailed by President Nixon and denounced by critics as a "travesty of the legislative process."

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., R-28th District, was one of 19 Republican congressmen who voted against approval of funds for continued development of the SST.

Spokesmen for the aerospace contractors that have built and fought for the SST project were quick to say any renewal of the work would be expensive, that all contracts would have to be renegotiated and that in their view the goal would have to be changed from mere prototype development to actual SST commercial production.

"Our strategy will be to try and beat it, beat it up and down," said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis. He declared to newsmen he will use any tactic under the Senate rules to kill the project—not ruling out talking it to death. He said the original objective still stand: the SST is too costly, it is something that should be left to private industry, it is not practical and it threatens the environment. "Minds have been changed in the last two months," said Sen.

Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., who has fought to keep alive the SST, which was being built in his state. His homestate colleague, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, also a Democrat, said these factors were the mind changers: a strong reaction across the nation to rising unemployment, the current dollar crisis overseas and the continued effort of the British-French builders of the Concorde SST.

The issue, thought dead earlier in the year following defeats in both congressional chambers, was raised again when House SST backers, in an amendment to a supplemental appropriations bill, rewrote a section providing $85 million to terminate SST contracts. Their new language earmarked the money to restart the program.

The decision, reversing the House's 215-204 anti-SST vote eight weeks ago, tossed the controversy back to the Senate, giving another turn to a Capitol Hill saga in which the SST already has had far many more perils than the fabled Pauline.

The Senate last March nailed down the earlier House decision in a 51-46 vote.

Spokesmen for the Boeing Corp. and General Electric, the two prime SST contractors under now canceled contracts, aid the whole situation will have to be rethought.

"Any proposal to go forward on an SST program would involve very substantial financial commitments beyond $85 million," a Boeing spokesman said.

A new start and a new contract should consider not only completion of two prototypes "but the construction of production aircraft as well," the spokesman said.

Such a step would change the rules of the SST game as it has been played in Congress up to now.

Under the old contracts the government was committed only through the development of the prototypes. Nixon administration officials did all they could to assure congressmen that no federal funds would ever be spent on actual commercial production.

Proxmire called Wednesday for renewed help from the national coalition of environmental and conservation groups that conducted the successful lobbying effort widely credited in earlier curbing the project. Proxmire told a newsman his real concern at the moment is what will happen to the SST if a Senate "no" vote sends it to a conference with the House.

The Senate last year had voted against continuing federal financing of SST development, while the House approved it. A conference committee compromised the differences by extending the SST program.

256 Reds Are Killed by Viets

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese marines and infantrymen of the elite Black Panther detachment killed 256 Communist soldiers Wednesday in the heaviest fighting yet of the month-old A Shau Valley campaign. Saigon government spokesmen said today. Until today the Army of the Republic of (South) Vietnam (ARVN) claimed 117 Communists killed in Operation Lam Son, 220 since it began April 14. But five sharp battles Wednesday that number was more than tripled, to 373. The fighting took place in mile-high mountains ringing the 35-mile long valley flanking the Laos border in the northern Central Highlands. The ARVN killed and 48 wounded.

In the second marine battle Wednesday afternoon, the Communists shelled the marines and gunship strikes and B52 bombardments.

The Black Panthers made and attacked again. The three attacks at various points marines fought off this assault of a Communist bunker complex Wednesday night. They spokesmen said, killing a total claimed 50 Communists killed of 177 Communists at a toll of a cost of three dead and five 35 dead and wounded of their wounded. Six other Communist own bodies were found later.

In the first marine battle Delta, U.S. Army helicopter Wednesday morning, two com-gunships spotted a row of panies of Communist soldiers sumpans plying a canal Wednesday attacked a battalion of South nesday afternoon, sank 10 of Vietnamese marines who had the boats and claimed 10 been lifted into the area by Communists killed. There were helicopter only the day before, no American casualties.

Europe Cut — Senate Move Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has won a one-week delay in its uphill fight against any Senate move to cut U.S. troop strength in Europe.

Republican sources said they were unsure enough votes could be mustered Wednesday to defeat Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's proposal for a 50-per-cent cut at the end of 1971 in the 300,000-man U.S. force.

But the White House was reported standing firm against any of at least three GOP alternatives designed to blunt the Mansfield move, preferring to keep the troop situation as is.

The troop-reduction proposal, offered as an amendment to the draft-extension bill, apparently took the administration by surprise, even though Mansfield had long talked of such a move. Early Wednesday, the White House passed the word to administration backers to use whatever means necessary to delay a vote. After a day of meetings and drafting, an agreement was reached delaying action until next Wednesday.

"The State Department is pretty frantic about this," said Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., a backer of Mansfield's proposal. "They apparently fear it will pass," he told reporters. "As a matter of fact, they called me for the first time since I was elected to the Senate in 1968 so I guess they are pretty frantic about the situation."

Euromart Break For Britain

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Britain and the six Common Market nations made a major breakthrough early today in their negotiations, opening the way for Britain to join the European Economic Community by Jan. 1, 1973.

"We are now definitely in," said one jubilant British official when the meeting ended at dawn. To toast the success, French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, who chaired the 10-hour final negotiating session, broke out bottles of scotch for the participants.

Geoffrey Rippon, Britain's chief negotiator, was asked what chances were for overall approval to join the market. "I would bet on success," he said.

The breakthrough came on three key issues that had kept the market members and Britain apart during the lengthy talks. They were: Britain's contribution to the Common Market budget; safeguards for Caribbean Commonwealth sugar trade, and aligning Britain's cheaper food prices with those of the market members.

Shrinking Issues

Inflation is being curbed, promising to reduce unemployment as business revives, and as everyone knows the Vietnam war is being wound down. As President Nixon emphasized these matters in two successive recent press conferences, he was trying to say that the big issues that confront him now are shrinking and by 1972 he hopes they will have evaporated, leaving his opponents flailing against faded windmills.

Evidence is accumulating that inflation is coming under control. The rate of price rise for the first quarter was a little less than three per cent, the lowest in four years, and the most encouraging indication in months.

High as unemployment is at six per cent, the revival of business is beginning to be felt as work begins to materialize. The special situation of the aerospace industry in the West Coast is under intense study and the highly skilled workers are getting special attention in Congress. High unemployment in city slums, and particularly among teenage blacks, is slow to be resolved. But even this situation will give way as general unemployment ebbs to an expected five per cent by late summer or early fall.

There is no longer any question about the winding down of the war. The complaints of radicals expressed in the demonstrations in Washington are no longer credible. The public sees the evidences in the homeward trek of war veterans. Antiwar congressmen have fallen to proposals for turnoff dates, which the public now realizes helps only the enemy, or cutting off war appropriations which would leave the remaining American forces high and dry in a foreign county, an untenable position.

No, the big issues are shrinking. Time is on the President's side. Housing starts and retail buying, the two big consumer movements that will help reduce inflation, are advancing. They are supported by the stock market boom. What is needed now is confidence in the future, for things to fall into place.

Working for Yourself

The average taxpayer started working for himself Monday, May 10. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States calculates that up to then, the average taxpayer has been working for the government—to pay taxes to federal, state and local authority.

The average wage earner needs to work more than one-third of every eight-hour day—two hours and 51 minutes to be exact—before his daily income will be enough to cover his tax bills. For a year, that adds up to the four months and 10 days the tax experts say are needed for average earnings to cover annual individual tax loads.

The Chamber warns that, unless various government jurisdictions can learn to be more productive, or unless citizens quit demanding more services of government, it won't be many years before half our work-load is a tax load. As a matter of fact, that is already true for those in the higher than average tax brackets.

Not only for the individual, but for American business, the tax load takes a big bite out of earnings. The corporate tax is already more than half the earnings. That could be one reason for the business slowdown and, with it, the serious unemployment.

One remedy the Nixon administration is proposing is a speedup of depreciation. Critics oppose on the ground that accelerated write-offs are a reduction in taxes. Nothing can be farther from the truth. No taxes for business have been reduced.

Faster write-offs would benefit the whole economy, the Chamber says. It would stimulate business, help meet foreign competition, provide money for new machinery and equipment, create a huge number of new jobs and cut unemployment. It worked before and should be given a chance to work again.

BERRY'S WORLD

The New Dictator

David Lawrence Says Washington Police Took Calm and Efficient Action

WASHINGTON — After a week of dealing with hectic demonstrations involving the arrest of at least 12,000 protesters, Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson of Washington must have been glad that Sunday was truly a day of rest and change.

This correspondent happened to be invited by a friend to attend the services at the National Presbyterian Church, one of the largest in the Capital. As we picked up the program for the service, we noticed that, besides the sermon, there was an old testament lesson and a new testament lesson and that the latter was to be read by Police Chief Wilson. A footnote explained that Chief Wilson is the cub master of the cub scouts of the church. As he spoke, he seemed just as profound as any clergyman, although dressed in the uniform of the boy scouts. Three of the boys at the service were awarded medals, which were presented by former Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark.

Mr. Wilson has been at the head of the Washington Police Force for the past two years, but has been in the department for more than 20 years. When his most difficult problem with the demonstrators arose last week, he carefully planned the police action to be taken. He has received widespread praise for the discretion he used.

The general impression created by critics of chiefs of police nowadays is that they are heartless, if not brutal, men. Last week Chief Wilson handled the demonstrations with a minimum of force. He won the praise of President Nixon, who met with him, Mayor Walter E. Washington and a small group of military commanders on Saturday. The President feels that the police took proper action in making arrests and that what occurred was a model for the handling of demonstrations. The President was quoted as saying that in the future "Any action that are lawless in nature will be dealt with in the same way, with firmness but yet with restraint."

Police Chief Wilson ordered mass arrests of those participating in activities which sought to "close down the government." Some criticism was expressed in Congress, but on Monday the Senate approved by voice vote a resolution sponsored by Senator Carl Curtis, Republican of Nebraska, praising Police Chief Wilson and his men as well as other police and military personnel here for "consistent, just, calm and efficient action under strenuous conditions" in the confrontations with the demonstrators.

Attorney General Mitchell has declared that he hopes other cities learned a lesson from what the Washington Police did last week with their massive arrests. Mr. Mitchell stated that President Nixon fully shares his feelings, and defended the rest of the 12,000 militant protesters. He added:

"I hope that Washington's decisive opposition to mob force will set an example for other communities...to do the same. If they do, we will see an end to the extremist practice of running roughshod over the rights of others."

The Attorney General's comments were made in a speech delivered before the California peace officers association in San Francisco. He also made this comment:

"I am proud of the Washington City Police. I am proud that they stopped a repressive mob from robbing the rights of others. It is my firm belief that...authorities in other cities will not let the rights robbers rule their streets."

"Moreover, ring leaders of these disrupters, who arrogantly insist they may steal the rights of other American citizens in order to force the government to do their bidding, have been charged and will be prosecuted."

"Let the critics of the Washington Police choose to make martyrs out of the mob which tried to rob the rights of 800,000 Washingtonians and injured 34 policemen in the process. As for myself, I will choose as heroes the valiant Washington Policemen who kept the City of Washington functioning and protected the rights of their fellow citizens."

Chief Wilson has never expressed any objection to demonstrations as such. He is willing to participate in negotiations with march leaders and encourage them to maintain order. He has become recognized nationally as an expert on how to control demonstrations. Those who know his work were not surprised that he handled last week's attempted disruptions so effectively.

Safety Car Derby to Yield Revolution in Auto Industry

By MURRAY OLDERMAN.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — In an aircraft plant out on Long Island and at an engineering laboratory in southern California, four cars are being built that will revolutionize the automobile industry in America. Two are due for Christmas delivery, two a month later.

The cost is exactly $1,946,875 per car.

Each is destined for total destruction. But from this crash (sic) program, sponsored by the Department of Transportation and financed by you, the taxpayer, will come the car of the near future (1975) which will:

Let you walk away from a head-on collision at 50 miles an hour.

Give you no repair bills for collisions up to 10 miles an hour.

Let you absorb a side impact with minimal risk at 30 miles an hour.

Keep you alive after a rollover at 70 miles an hour.

These are not armored tanks. These are practical, stylized automobiles being built by 1) the American Machine and Foundry Company at its Advanced Systems Laboratory in Santa Barbara and 2) the Fairchild Hiller Corporation at its Federal Aviation plant in Farmingdale, Long Island. They are designed for Mr.

Consumer to keep him from becoming another number in the highway fatality statistics. (There were 55,300 recorded deaths due to automobiles last year.)

Since the National Motor Vehicle Safety Act was passed in 1966, creating what is now the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, the government agency has had the power to tell General Motors and Ford and Chrysler what's good for the country when it comes to building a safer automobile.

In April, 1970, the NHTSA entertained bids for the construction of an Experimental Safety Vehicle (ESV). Fairchild Hiller was awarded a contract of $4,547,500 to build two. AMF was granted $3,240,000, also to build two.

(A General Motors token bid of $1 also put that company in the program as an automotive industry representative, but it has a later delivery date.)

Why did AMF come in with a bid that was substantially lower by some $1.2 million?

"We eat light lunches, I guess," says Alan Roth, director of its Advanced Systems Laboratory, glibly.

"My board members asked me the same question. Actually, we structured a program that would meet the requirements of the proposal."

(And, actually, Fairchild Hiller, with its huge aviation plant, has a much higher overhead.)

The AMF-Fairchild Hiller

competition to produce the Experimental Safety Vehicle is an industrial race in the classic sense. In their over-all corporate pictures, the money isn't important. At Fairchild Hiller, for instance, the safety car program totaled 1.6 per cent of annual corporate revenue. At AMF, it's a half of one per cent.

But engineering prestige is on the line. To the winner, to be determined after the Department of Transportation tests the safety cars and destroys them in the process, will go a contract to build 12 more cars at an estimated $3 million.

From these will come the following predicted changes in the American automobile:

Hydraulic bumpers which will reduce the crash load of a car.

Better door systems to reduce side impacts.

Improved, fireproof gas tanks.

Better rear vision systems provided by a rooftop periscope.

Better emission control (the safety cars already meet the 1973 emission requirements).

Improved braking and steering systems.

A passive restraint system, such as an air bag which inflates in case of collision.

"We will show," says Roth, who's in charge of the AMF cars, "that a vehicle can not only be attractive but can be optimized in terms of safety."

In other words, you're guaranteed to walk away from it alive.

Jack Anderson Says 32 Gas Company Men Are On Nixon's Gas Committee

WASHINGTON — Natural gas executives, who have shelled out thousands of dollars to the GOP cause, have now been rewarded with key roles in deciding how much the public should pay to their companies.

The Nixon Administration claims it's just a coincidence that several big contributors from the gas industry were named to the 41-member National Gas Survey Executive Advisory Committee.

But the 100 million Americans, who use natural gas to heat their homes and run their appliances, may have a hard time swallowing this whopper as they watch their gas bills climb.

Of the 41 committee members, whose appointments as "principal" policy advisers were announced last month, we found 32 gas company men. Most of the others are in sympathy with the industry. We could identify only one real consumer member.

Conclusion: the advisory committee is about as innocent as a pack of wolves deciding how many of the farmers' chickens they should be allowed to gobble up each night.

But the conflict goes even deeper. Many of the new advisers, who now have the Federal Power Commission's ear on policy matters, come from companies with multi-million-dollar cases before the commission.

Advise and Contribute

The chairman of the blue-ribbon advisory committee is beefy Bill Elmer, chairman of Texas Gas Transmission Corporation. He is known as one of the most powerful and persuasive industry spokesmen in the country.

A key member is Robert O. Anderson, chairman of Atlantic Richfield, who contributed more than $45,000 to the GOP in 1968 and 1970. He is now in a position to influence decisions worth millions to Atlantic Richfield, which is a major natural gas firm.

Other GOP contributors who will now be advising the FPC on natural gas matters are Robert Herring of Houston Natural Gas, John Shaw of Southern Natural Gas, W. A. Strauss of Northern Natural Gas, John Swearing of Standard Oil (Indiana), E.D.

Brockett of Gulf Oil, Denis Kemball-Cook of Shell Oil and Otto Miller of Standard Oil (California).

All have donated heavily to the GOP political war chests. All their firms have big interests in keeping natural gas prices high.

Footnote: The consumer-battered attitude of the Nixon Administration on natural gas began with the appointment of John Nassikas as Federal Power Chairman. Since his takeover, tough regulators at the FPC have been quitting in squads. They have grumbled to us that instead of representing the consumer, Nassikas has represented the fat cats.

Washington Whirl

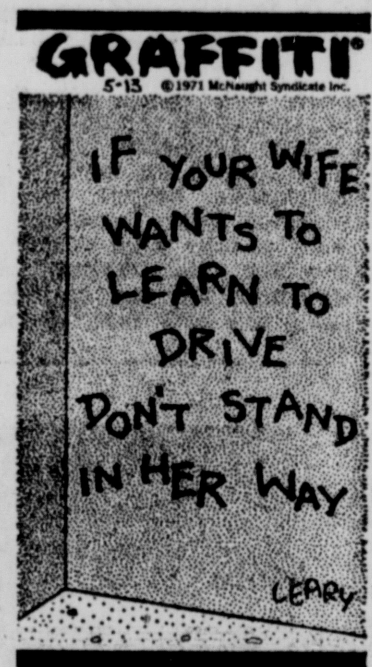

Volpe's Junket — John Volpe, the hard-working Transportation Secretary, will take off next week in his $3.5 million custom Coast Guard jet for a 17-day European junket. A spokesman insists the trip will be all business. Volpe will visit the Paris Air Show, then stop off at the resort and racecourse town of Deauville for an aviation symposium, then on to Madrid and Margella for talks with Spanish transportation officials. Marbella, a small town on the Spanish Riviera, doesn't have many travel problems, but it has excellent beaches and golf course.

Home Burial — The Forest Service, instead of going to court to settle a one-acre land dispute with Vernon McCall, simply buried his small trailer horse at Balsam Grove, N.C. Now government officials are trying to bury the entire escapade. A government bulldozer scooped out a suitable hole, pushed in McCall's home and covered it with dirt. Then the Forest Service sowed the area with grass seed and planted white pines over the grave. McCall's diabetes medicine, ice box, food and much of his furniture were buried in the same grave. Left with his bed and a few belongings, he spent the night under the stars. Forest Service Chief Edward Cliff admits his aides were overzealous and promises there will be no more home burials. But he maintains that the right to throw trespassers and their property off federal land includes the right to bury a man's home. McCall, whose family claims to have a quitclaim deed and has been paying taxes on the disputed acre, is waiting for the courts to settle the squabble. The pines, meanwhile, are growing beautifully.

Headlines and Footnotes — The Central Intelligence Agency is secretly training counterinsurgency forces in Jordan. Some space scientists believe the rilles on the moon might be underground lava tubes which could be converted into permanent lunar bases. The National Geographic Society is the last holdover from the B'Wana School of Journalism. Its expose account forms includes the category, "Gifts to Natives." Art Buchwald's former partner, Robert Yoakum, has come out with his own column of political satire. With a typical touch of Yoakum's humor, he explains his return to humor: "Because of envy over Mr. Buchwald's success and a feeling that humor is in short supply, in that order."

Chinese Checkers — The first overture to Peking was made by President Nixon more than two years ago. The President told the late Charles de Gaulle about his hopes to achieve a detente with Red China and asked the French leader to use his good offices to open the way. Later, Nixon raised the same subject during his visit in Romania with Premier Ceausescu. Subsequently, both the French and Romanian governments delivered U.S. goodwill messages to Peking.

Great Speculation on Appeals Court Ruling on State Budget

By CHARLES DUMAS.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Capitol sophisticates are turning themselves on this week with a new guessing game. It's played with definitely lowered voices. Sometimes even whispers.

The game is guessing how the seven judges of the Court of Appeals — the state's highest tribunal — will vote on the constitutionality of the state budget.

The reason for the sotto voice is that there's an overtone of sacrilege in the game, namely that certain judges may or may not vote according to their political backgrounds and party preferences.

Now there's nothing that outrages a judge's sense of judicial majesty more than a suggestion that his decision might be colored by politics. The higher the court the touchier the judge.

Accordingly, the Capitol games — players lower their voices — players lower their voices — players lower their voices — almost as though they fear that his honor might be listening. Most of the players are lawyers, and they have an ingrained fear, if not respect, of the judicial brass.

The political factor in the budget case is apparent enough. A ruling of unconstitutionality would prove greatly embarrassing — to the Republican party. After all, the budget was Gov. Rockefeller's handiwork and it was approved in form by the legislature's Republican majorities.

Democrats cackled in glee last week when the document was ruled unconstitutional by a single State Supreme Court justice, Russell G. Hunt, an Albany Democrat.

On Monday, the case was argued before the Appellate Division, a panel comprising four judges of Republican background and one Democrat. The understanding was that, regardless of that panel's ruling, the matter would be brought promptly to the Court of Appeals.

Since the final decision thus will rest with the Court of Appeals, that's where the guessing game speculation has focused. Here's how it goes:

The players begin with the observation that Democrats outnumber Republicans on the high court by 4 to 3. They tick off the names — Democrats Adrian P. Burke, John F. Scileppi, Francis Bergan and Matthew J. Jansen; Republicans Stanley H. Fuld, who is the chief judge and Charles D. Breitel and James Gibson.

Someone promptly suggests that the budget might be voted down, 4-3. Another cautions the first observer not to be so sure. This judge or that judge, he says, "can't be depended upon."

The judges so mentioned would like that "undependable" rating, probably. It tends to strengthen the nonpolitical image they cultivate.

In any event, the game continues with in-depth analysis of various judges' philosophic records on the bench. The more learned players cite previous decisions on cases in which politics or government financial matters were involved.

An occasional name-dropping player will chip in a remark that a certain judge was alleged to have made during lunch at the University Club. But this is discounted usually, because the judges make a big thing out of avoiding such out-of-court discussions.

Nevertheless, the game is played intently, not only in Capitol corridors but also in such high places as the governor's office and the highest counsels of the legislature.

Any day now, someone will be coming around with a pool.

Red Power Stirs U.S. Policy Shifts

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The changing U.S.-Soviet military balance of power makes inevitable a major shift in U.S. foreign strategy.

It makes the old freedom of U.S. action next to impossible.

In another Cuban missile crisis, we probably could not push a showdown of the 1961 type without a very strong reaction by the Russians, perhaps in Berlin.

We probably could not again be able to get away unscathed with a precautionary military step of the type President Eisenhower carried out in Lebanon in 1958.

It means too that the United States probably can never again take the chance of becoming tied down in one country so completely as in Vietnam.

A nuclear stalemate or Soviet superiority would give USSR new freedom to promote "wars of national liberation" or underground insurgencies directed and supplied with arms, money and "volunteers" from outside.

It probably would mean a gradual decline in the unity of the free world, with more countries attempting some sort of a detente with the Soviet Union.

It could mean a growing activism among aggression-minded small nations, especially those allied with Moscow, because they would have less fear of intervention by the United States.

In sum, the growth of Soviet power could tempt the Kremlin and its allies into bolder challenges, thus increase the danger of war.

The shift in military power responsible for the trends noted above — is dramatic. A decade ago, at the Cuban missile crisis, American ICBMs outnumbered Russia's by 10 to one. American conventional forces dominated the seas.

Today the United States is still ahead, but not by much. Some high officials argue that by 1975 the Russians may be ahead. Some set the date at 1980-82. Though others disagree that there is evidence the Soviet Union will achieve a superiority most of the experts agree that barring a major technological breakthrough, the United States will never again enjoy the pre-eminence over Russia that it had in 1961.

collections, with emphasis on the consumer loan area.

George D. Reisenauer, treasurer and vice president of the Kingston Trust Company, discussed accruals, bank accounting and special reports such as the statement of condition required as a public statement by the supervisory authorities. Reisenauer also conducted an evening class on money and banking discussing the Federal Reserve Bank and its effect on banking institutions and the general economy.

Teamsters Ask For Agreement To End Strike

KINGSTON — Representatives of Local 445, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, today called upon employers of the block yard industry to sign a negotiated agreement that would put an end to the 11-day old strike of warehouse workers.

The strike began May 3, with workers at affected block yards walking the picket lines. A verbal agreement was reportedly reached May 7, with employers scheduled to sign the agreement ending the strike May 10. Local 445 officials say the employers did not show up at the May 10 meeting to sign the new wage pact.

A spokesman for Local 445 in Newburgh today told The Freeman that the employer's action represents a "lockout." "The workers were on strike for a week," he said, "so now the employers are locking them out for a week to get back at them."

Theodore G. Daley, secretary-treasurer of Local 445, said that the employers are now obliged to pay the workers for each day since Monday that the strike continues. Daley added, "If the spoken words and agreements of negotiations cannot be honored, very little faith could be placed with these employers without the signed stipulation. We stand ready to return to work immediately upon signing" of the agreement.

Sewer Repairs Cost $10,871

KINGSTON — The emergency repairs to the O'Neil Street sewer in the City of Kingston cost $10,871.20, according to Mayor Francis R. Koenig.

The break in the main was repaired between May 3 and 10 by Berardi, contractor. The mayor said the city also received the sheeting and timber from the excavation from Berardi.

Ecology Drive Successful

WOODSTOCK — The Ecology Committee of the Onteora Lions Club delivered 3,500 pounds of glass and 80 pounds of aluminum to the Coca Cola plant in Newburgh last week, and gained valuable new experience in their recycling campaign.

Committeeman Roy Hoffman trucked the nearly two tons of glass and the aluminum in the first shipment, resulting from several fortnightly weekend collections at the Rondout National Bank in Bradley Meadow shopping center.

Woodstockers can again bring their contributions there on Sunday between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. — a time and place for special convenience for churchgoers.

Ecology Chairman Ken Osterhoudt said the result was very gratifying. "These contributions came from many individuals and families and not from a few large users such as bars or restaurants," he said.

Hoffman, a general contractor, is now arranging to crush the glass by color in steel barrels. "We appeal for barrels we can use," he asked. "Any barrel in fairly good condition is okay, including old burn-barrels. But we cannot pick them up, so please bring the barrels to Bradley Meadows on Sunday, May 17." He also asked that glass bot-ties and jars be reasonably residential developments in late May. Chairman Osterhoudt will announce pickup arrangements. He asked, meanwhile, that residents "save their glass and aluminum for our ecology campaign."

All kinds of scrap aluminum are also welcome, including cookie sheets, TV trays, pie tins and discarded cooking utensils. Richard Benoit, owner of the Consolidated Sanitation Refuse Service, will pick up glass, all-aluminum cans and scrap aluminum from Woodstock area.

Pregnancy Leave

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A school board policy of requiring pregnant teachers to take a leave of absence five months before the expected birth survived a challenge in U.S. District Court Wednesday.

The policy was called unconstitutional and discriminatory in suits filed by two junior high school teachers.

Judge James C. Connell dismissed the suits, saying "The demands upon teachers which subject them to the possibility of violence or accident and injury are greatly magnified in a condition of pregnancy."

Election Day Liquor Sales Are Approved

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Thirsty voters will be able to buy liquor on primary and general election days, under a bill signed by Governor Rockefeller Wednesday.

The measure, by Sen. John Calandra, R-Bronx, repeals the prohibition against liquor sales on voting days.

It is effective immediately and, thus, will apply to this year's Sept. 14 primary. The governor, who also has approved a 12 per cent mark-up in liquor store prices, signed the bill without comment.

A black and white photograph capturing a family's evening camping experience. In the foreground, a man sits on a folding chair, illuminated by the warm glow of a campfire, playing an acoustic guitar. To his right, a woman and two children are huddled around the fire, their faces lit up. The background features a vintage van parked in a dark, wooded area, with the silhouettes of trees visible against the night sky. The overall mood is peaceful and intimate.

Shandaken Town Hall Beautification Program Approved by Board

SHANDAKEN The Town of Shandaken Nursing Committee asked for and received permission to beautify the Shandaken Town Hall at Wednesday's meeting of the Shandaken Town Board. The committee will place flower boxes in the hall's windows and plant flowers around the flag pole. The committee has asked any persons wishing to donate money or flowers as a memorial to contact a member of the nursing committee by May 20. That is the date for the raising of a flag that flew over the Capitol in Washington over the town hall, and is in the car crusher business, beautification will be completed by then. The flag was donated by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R 28th).

The meeting opened with the Pledge of Allegiance for the first time. The pledge was led by five Shandaken Cub Scouts; about a year. The four town Billy Fitchner, Jeffrey constables have been can-Schlosser, Dennis Frano, Jody vassing the town for the past Rossitz, and Vincent Merwin.

Marbletown Expects Same Rec Program

STONE RIDGE Recreation activities in the Town of Marbletown should continue unaffected this year, despite announcement that there will be no funds forthcoming from the state.

Supervisor Kenneth Smith announced at Wednesday night's Town Board meeting that Albany economy measures have eliminated the $1,600 grant the town expected to receive from the state this year.

But Recreation Commission officials said that they probably would not have to curtail any activities, primarily because the town's park is run on a self supporting basis. In doubt, however, is the future of a planned basketball court and ice-skating rink meant to replace one destroyed by vandals last winter.

In other matters, the Town Board said it would "take into consideration" a request by residents of High Falls to install a street light at the intersection of Schoolhouse and Steep Hill Roads.

The Town Board accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Kenneth Davenport as a member of the Planning Board and then approved a recommendation to appoint Mrs. James Embree to serve the remainder of Mrs. Davenport's term of office.

A clean-up project along town roads and landscaping of a mini-park near the Town Hall are among the activities planned for a beautification program Saturday.

May 22 was designated as Senior Citizen's Day, in conjunction with programs scheduled at Ulster County Community College that day.

What a way to get away to it all! And there's a day camp available for the children, magnificent lounge, Espresso coffee bar as well as our dining room featuring our famous Continental cuisine.

Pattern Official on Jetport — Good, Bad

HYDE PARK, This was one of the major points made this week by Arthur E. Weintraub, senior vice-president of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, the seven-county regional planning and development corporation, in a talk before the Mid-Hudson Chapter of the Sierra Club at Vanderbilt Mansion, Hyde Park.

Like a magnet, Weintraub said, a major jetport will attract certain types of development and discourage others. "Insofar as its total impact on the quality of the area's life is concerned, much depends on how the airport and its air operations are woven into both the area's natural and man-made environment."

Pattern has been using this study approach in its own research, he added, which will be leading shortly to the organization taking a stand on the Stewart Airport expansion proposal.

"Over the past few weeks, we have had extensive discussions with public and private agencies directly affected by the proposal, including the Federal Aviation Administration, the Air Transport Association of America, the Port of New York Authority, the state Department of Transportation, the State Office of Planning Services, (which is now conducting a land use impact study on the proposed expansion) and the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, the state agency which would have the major responsibility for any future development at Stewart."

In its analysis, Weintraub said, Pattern is concentrating on a group of basic issues and questions surrounding Stewart's future—among them: the projected market demand for air transport services at Stewart over the immediate and long term future; the areas that can be expected to be impacted by noise, and to what degree; the influence of terrain on air operations; and the effect of Stewart's expansion on the pattern of land use in the surrounding area.

"Weighing these and other factors together," Weintraub said, "we will try to arrive at a suggested level of air operations and activity that can be justified at Stewart, and relate this to actual land requirements for the airport and related buffer zones."

TB-RD Association to Hold Dinner at Hunter Ski Lodge

KINGSTON — The annual dinner and meeting of the Catskill Region TB and RD Association has been scheduled for Thursday night, May 27, at the Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl Lodge, Hunter, at 7 p.m. John M. Robbins, Sauerbrey, Association president, and Mrs. Arthur Gustavson, Cox-sackie, Association vice president and chairman of the annual dinner committee, report that invitations have been sent to directors, volunteers, official agencies, professional persons and groups, organizations, key individuals and others. It was pointed out. All interested persons who may not be on the group's basic list are urged to make reservations and attend. The Catskill Region group represents Greene, Sullivan and Ulster Counties.

The annual dinner program has a new and very vital topic, Mrs. Gustavson noted. It will be geared to New Trends in Tuberculosis Treatment in Change from TB hospitals to local general hospitals, and will feature as its guest speaker, Dr. John B. Plass, director of the Ulster County Chest Clinic. The presentation will outline the official move to return all TB patients to their area of residence and henceforth to treat local TB patients at a local general hospital. Outlined will be the important role also to be played by existent local laboratories, established chest clinics and public health services. With the care of tuberculosis patients again to be a local or area responsibility, the needs for financing, facilities, professional and lay education and general information requires immediate attention and action toward meeting the new patient system.

Also featured will be the awards of National Certificates of Honor to the four area school paper winners in the Annual School Press Project.

The open meeting of the Association following dinner will provide the election of directors as nominated by the committee under Mrs. George Winkelstern, Kenosha Lake, chairman.

Mrs. Gustavson's committee for the dinner event also includes Mrs. Ralph Fegraus, Mrs. Robert B. Smith, and Mrs. N. DuBois Riley, Catskill; Mrs. Murray Feinburg, Cairo; and E. Robert Johnson, Association executive director.

Reservations for the TB-RD Annual Dinner may be made by contacting Association headquarters or by mail at 124 Green Street, Kingston. "We will be delighted to have all of our interested and concerned friends join us at this particularly meaningful program in conclusion."

No Live Coverage For Tricia Nixon's Wedding in June

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tricia Nixon's wedding will not be televised live, in keeping with the private sentimental occasion.

The nation's viewers will have a chance to see some of the highlights of the June 12 rose garden wedding on TV news shows following the nuptials.

Tricia has been making her decisions — with the help of her fiancé, Harvard law student Edward Finch Cox — and announcing them as she goes along. But the style of her wedding dress, designed by Priscilla of Boston, is being kept a deep secret until the wedding day.

Compared to the wedding of her immediate predecessors, former President Lyndon B. Johnson's daughters Luci Nugent and Lynda Bird Robb, Tricia pre-nuptial planning and partying is low key.

Although she does not claim to be the domestic type, she is taking her future hostess chores to heart. She has indicated that in her place settings in china Lenox "Blue Tree" and her silverware Lunt's "Eloquence", she wants to be able to serve 12 for dinner.

She also has noted in a local bridal registry that she would like to receive Worcester flame proof ovenware in "strawberry" pattern and has her eye on some 100-year-old gold rimmed service plates with the crest showing an animal head and the motto, "Benevolent Universe" in case any friends are interested in giving her china for a wedding gift.

Doty officiated at the double ring ceremony and Theodore Riccabono, organist, accompanied Betty Sass and Richard Scherer, father of the bridegroom, who sang traditional wedding selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Haber, 11 Adams Street, Kingston, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scherer, 20 West Pierpont Street, Kingston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a custom-made silk organza empire gown, Venise lace trimmed the full skirt and edged the short puffed sleeves. The gown featured a detachable train. A cathedral length veil was attached to her baby bonnet headpiece and she carried a cascade of carnations and ivy.

Miss Pat Haber, 11 Adams Street, Kingston, served as maid of honor for her sister in a dacron puff multicolored flower gown. The gown was styled with a tucked bodice, short puffed sleeves and a high collar trimmed with lace. Miss Haber wore a blue ribbon in her hair and carried blue carnations.

Attendants were the Misses Pat Meisch, cousin of the bridegroom; Jane Ball, and Dottie Harder, both cousins of the bride. They wore gowns fashioned identically to the honor attendants and wore yellow ribbons in their hair. The bridesmaids carried yellow carnations.

Miss Ellie Haber, sister of the bride, and Eileen Scherer, sister of the bridegroom, were flower girls. Their gowns were styled similarly to those of the other attendants' and they wore pink ribbons in their hair and carried baskets of pink carnations.

Daniel Sass, East Chester Street, Kingston, was best man. Ushers were John Haber, brother of the bride; Timothy Scherer, brother of the bridegroom; and David Lowe.

A reception was held at the Moose Hall.

Mrs. Scherer is an alumna of Kingston High School and Ulster Community College. She is employed as a teacher's aide by Kennedy School. Her husband is a graduate of Kingston High School and attended UCC. He is employed by the U.S. Post Office, Kingston.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Scherer will reside at 83 German Street, Kingston.

DEAR ABBY: I was nominated for an office in a club (don't mention the office or the club, please) and I really wanted this office. When the results of the election were announced, I lost by ONE vote. I was really heartbroken because (as you have probably guessed) I voted for my opponent, who voted for himself!

Was it stupid of me to have voted for my opponent? I felt it would have been egotistical to have voted for myself. Two of my friends said they thought I did the right thing in voting for my opponent. Another friend said he thought it was stupid. What do you think? Sock it to me, Abby.

—LOST
DEAR LOST: You should have voted for the person who in your opinion would have made the best officer. If you didn't then you were stupid (or perhaps impractically humble).

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "L" was funny and quaint. An authority on GEESE. You certainly ain't!

For a GOOSE was a "him" You seemed to infer. And the GANDER you spoke of Like "he" was a "her."

At your mix-up in genders I was amused. But some of your readers Were, no doubt, confused. —MUNCIE, IND. FAN

DEAR MUNCIE FAN: For an Iowa lass I feel like a cluck. For I've often mistaken A DRAKE for a DUCK.

In the realm of the barnyard I'm loathe to meander, It's plain, I don't know My GOOSE from my GANDER! (Edgar Allan Po-Po)

Hospital Heliport Rites Saturday

KINGSTON Benedictine Hospital's new heliport will get off to a flying start Saturday when dedication ceremonies take place at 11 a.m. at the Mary's Avenue site.

A State Police helicopter will land at the pad where the ceremonies will take place designating the facility as the Mortimer B. Downer MD Heliport, in honor of a Woodstock physician who made his rounds in a horse and buggy years ago.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and other dignitaries will attend as well as Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig.

The dedication will be made by Msgr. Christopher Kane and introductory remarks will be given by Thomas Loughlin, both of whom are co-directors of the Division of Health and Hospitals at the Catholic Charities for the Archdiocese of New York.

Jack E. Turk, chairman of the dedication committee will officiate during the ceremonies and Msgr. James V. Keating will give the blessing.

Benedictine Administrator Sister Mary Charles will introduce the Downer family including the late Dr. Downer's granddaughter Gale Brownlee, who led the fund raising drive for the heliport and secured the volunteer labor, equipment and materials for the construction.

Other guests will include Spada, a member of the Benedictine Board of Directors; other members of the Police, Fire and Mancuso, County Clerk Albert hospital, ambulance and com-Sheriff's Departments.

WELL EARNED CELEBRATION — Fifty two long-time employees of Benedictine Hospital were honored at a dinner Tuesday night at the Walnut Grove for their 482 years of collective service. (Left) Beatrice Redmond, who has been in the dietary department for 28 years; Anthony J. DeLisio, vice president of the Benedictine Board of Trustees; Sister Mary Charles, hospital administrator; Anthony Pizzarelli, member of the Board of Trustees and Marie McCarthy, dietary employee with 28 years of service. The award for the longest service of 36 years went to Germaine Callahan. Richard M. Wagner personnel director was in charge of arrangements. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

The public is invited to attend the dedication which will feature music by Vigna Brothers and the singing of the national anthem by John McCullough.

In making the decision to build the facility, one of only nine in the state, Sister Mary Charles emphasized that the hospital is building a heliport "not establishing a heliport service." "It is simply providing a place for State Police or emergency vehicles to land when the need arises. We feel in the event of a serious emergency the heliport will be of great service to the community."

"Heliports have proven invaluable in the delivery of urgently needed vaccines, rare blood or plasma, transplants, etc. They are also used to transport medical personnel to where needed and lift out the sick and the injured."

"State Police, police and firemen in other localities have found no other vehicle capable of doing so much, so quickly," she said.

Serving with Turk on the dedication committee are: Joe E. O'Connor, James Norton, Bernard Feeney Jr., Robert Yallum, Paul DeLisio, Sister Mary Charles, Gerard Nocton, assistant hospital administrator; Gale Brownlee and Lynn Mulvaney, publicity.

A huge volunteer effort, the following businesses, industries and individuals donated labor and materials: DeRand Construction, Polyphase, Woodstock; Colonial Sand and Stone, Callanan Improvement, Local 14, Bricklayers, Masons and Bricklayers; Nelson Redi-Mix Concrete, Jennings Construction, Thomas Kennedy and Sons, Bruce Watson Memorial, Charles Staccio Construction, Earl Parker Equipment Rental, Dr. William Miller of Schenectady (windsock and frame), Dunham Tunnel and Excavation Corp. Freeman Under Study

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON

A Kingston High School project to make students aware of world and local news has resulted in an outpouring of public opinion.

Mrs. Jan O'Connor, English instructor at KHS, started her classes on an in depth study of The Daily Freeman to promote reading habits, stimulate interest in world and local news and to channel discussion.

In the process students came to know The Freeman and its many features. At the start of the project, Mrs. O'Connor said that many students were not aware of the scope of local news afforded by the various Freeman departments. They read with interest wire stories of world and national events commenting in class on their new found awareness.

The natural outcome was that great American forum—Letters to the Editor. All of the students wrote letters and the subjects of their concern were myriad. Views on pollution, abortion, capital punishment, generation and racial gaps were aired. Local concerns included the uptown traffic pattern experiment and the closing of a drive-in theater. School matters too were considered by the students who worried about overcrowding in the high school and who asked for more freedom in the schools.

In commenting on the letters, Mrs. O'Connor said they "reflect a great deal of thought and conviction." She commended The Freeman for its interest in the outcome of the project noting that "perhaps just that fact will help them realize that the attitudes and thoughts of today's youth—their own attitudes and thoughts—are wanted and appreciated by adults. They certainly need that encouragement."

Selected letters are presented here to illustrate the scope of the classroom exercise which grew to a meaningful and lasting experience for all concerned.

Overcrowding

582 Delaware Avenue
April 28, 1971
Kingston, New York 12401

Dear Sir:
Here in Kingston there are two high schools: Kingston High School and Coleman High School in Hurley. With the growing population here in this community I feel that a need for a new high school is necessary and it will also cut down a little on overcrowded schools. Coleman is a new high school, but for one thing it is located way out in Hurley. Ok, so if you live in Kingston there is a bus that will transfer you out there. Now there's a large tuition you have to pay to go to the school. The reason for the large tuition is because there is no government support. Now the Kingston High is the only high school in this community that has government support. And probably more than half the kids' population go to this school. I think the government should have another high school built.

Next year alone, Kingston High will have more kids than it can hold and so this means classes will become large and this could mean harder understanding of a subject.

Overcrowded schools is a problem that just can't be left alone. We need more room for this growing population. We need a new high school!!
Yours truly,
DEBBIE TIMBROUCK

Uptown Parking

51 Florence St.
Kingston, New York 12401

Dear Editor:
I am writing in reference to the new parking law in the uptown area. A lot of store owners have complained about this new parking law. But it is a good idea because there are not so many cars that are going around the block looking for a place to park. These people cause traffic problems and sometimes accidents. There is plenty of space available to park in the uptown area. There are two parking lots on both sides of North Front Street and the parking building. I think this would be a good move to make this a permanent parking law.

Thank you,
BRUCE SCHECHTER

Abortion Law

15 Browning Terrace
Kingston, New York 12401
April 28, 1971

Dear Editor:
I am strongly against the new abortion law. I feel that it is wrong to destroy life within a mother's womb. It is killing a living organism.

This is against God's will and shows the carelessness of man. Bearing children is a sacred thing. Why should the children have to suffer? They have a right to live. People should not mistake love. There are ways in which to stop the cycle of reproduction without destroying life. God created us to bring forth children and to love one another. So remember bringing forth children is a form of love in which people should not misunderstand. Also you would be killing part of yourself.

Sincerely yours,
KAREN J. LANG

Jobs Needed

Editor:
I am writing about the "Job Situations" in our community. What we need in this community is more job opportunities. I feel that we need bigger businesses in our community in order to supply for growing population. Businesses are moving out to bigger cities. Many high school and college graduates are also leaving the community for better job opportunities.
Very truly yours,
ROBERT HULL

Drivers Licenses

744 Broadway
Kingston, New York 12401
April 22, 1971

Dear Sir:
I am a student at KHS and I am writing to you about the matter of having to be 16 to get a license to drive a car. In my opinion, age has nothing to do with your ability to drive. Some people are excellent drivers who aren't 16 yet. Then there are older teenagers who cannot drive and are not responsible but are able to get a license.

There should be a test, or two you should have to take to get a license at any age. It's just not fair for the younger nature teenagers who have to walk around while some wreck less older teenagers have a license.
Sincerely,
SHEREE PITTS

Opinions Are Many, Subjects Varied

Gossipers Scored

91 West Pierpont Street
Kingston, New York 12401

Dear Editor:
As I begin this letter pity me, with a knowledge that some adults will turn off these words like they turn off a TV program. They dislike. Today's topic—"Teenagers vs. Older Generation." A common thought pushed beneath many youths of America today is this "Generation Gap." As the gap gets wider, prejudice, mockery, and misunderstandings fill the air we breathe.

Now to state my opinion. I must make it clear that the people I am pertaining to are not majority but a minority. I am completely disgusted and annoyed at some of these untouchables, the squares, or in other words the "Older Generation." These hypocrites keep their reputation going by complaining about teen agers and their long hair, the way they dress, and how they always seem to be getting into trouble. I strongly feel that these people should take a good look at themselves before they can judge others. I find it amusing how they can in one breath put down 20 people, and at the same time gossip to Mable and clean the house. I understand and can think back when they were younger, they had their hang-ups, styles, and own way of living it up. Why then, must they gossip and swear to it that they never did such "horrible things" we do today? Gossipers of America, if your fool mouths can stop running for awhile, think for once about God's commandments, and practice them. Remember "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself." All you need is Love.

Yours truly,
PAT MCCUTCHEON

Racial Gap

Rt. 32, Sweet Briar Farms
New Paltz, New York 12561
April 24, 1971

Dear Editor:
I am writing as a concerned citizen of the community, and a confused one. We have a problem which concerns the whites and blacks of the community. To put it short, frank, and to the point, the two sides just can't get along. I would like to point that I am a black girl of 16. A lot of the problems are caused by job discrimination. Not very many business firms want to hire blacks, or any other minority groups. It seems as though you have to be white to get a job. Even though the law says you can't discriminate a person from a job because of race, color, creed, and national origin, people do it anyway. There is something else I would like to point out, and that is whether people know it or not black men and women are the major people that shaped up America. But they (whites) still won't recognize that blacks have just as much rights as anyone else, but blacks are always the ones who are put down. I am not a militant, I'm just concerned about the welfare of black people. I'm for "Black Power" if it is going to help blacks get what they "deserve." Could I have your viewpoint?

Yours truly,
DEBORAH E. NEWTON

Student Voice

Box 2
Rifton, New York 12471
April 29, 1971

Dear Editor:
Something should be done about the junior and senior high schools. This includes the students who should be given more freedom. By this I mean that each student should have some part in making the rules and regulations of the school. Often students feel that the school doesn't concern itself with them. This is often true. In many situations it seems that the administration is right and the students are wrong. This can be changed if we want it changed.

If the students are given this freedom they will most likely be wise in their decisions. The students of today will be our future leaders. Let's start giving them a chance to prove themselves. I think if we do give them this kind of freedom it will be used wisely and for the betterment of the school system.

Sincerely yours,
MARY ANN DUFFY

All Thoughtful

Capital Punishment

Box 85
Port Ewen, N.Y. 12466

Dear Editor:
The topic I would like to give my opinion on is capital punishment. I think that it is unjust in many ways. One argument opposing capital punishment is, that many criminals convicted of committing a killing offense don't think of the consequences before they do it. Some may do it just on impulse or in a burst of rage. Others that are hardened criminals are so convinced that they won't get caught that they pay little or no attention to the law. Still others because they were insane at the time they were committing the crime, are incapable of looking at the consequences.

In my opinion the death penalty should be abolished and those that have committed crimes warranting the death penalty should get some other less merciful punishment. Depending on the case, I think the majority should get life imprisonment or if insane or mentally ill should get life imprisonment. If insane or mentally ill they should be able to receive psychiatric treatment. Those that are not insane or mentally ill should be held in solitary confinement. By solitary confinement, I mean no contact with the outside world, no association with other prisoners, and no recreation except that of walking around in their cell. I also feel that they should be given no privileges and no chance of getting out on parole. In this way they will be suffering more for their crime than if they were immediately executed. This would be a threat to all people violating this part of the law.

If we look at capital punishment another way, the only criminals that receive the death penalty are the ones who murder a policeman, prison guard, or government official. All men are created equal and therefore all should receive the same punishment. So I see no need for capital punishment for any criminal.

Sincerely yours,
RONALD C. LATZ Jr.

Pollution Plea

63 O'Neil Street
Kingston, New York
April 28, 1971

Dear Editor:
Earth Week is over but pollution isn't. People, young and old alike, went out all over the United States, or should have. They went out hoping to clean up their town, city or what have you, cleaning up trash and garbage that they themselves put there. Most of them think that they will clean up things for a week and that will be good for the rest of the year, but they're wrong.

Pollution is an everyday thing you can't clean up in a week, month, not even in a year, but some people are satisfied with what they've accomplished in a week.

Earth Day should be every day of the year. In that way people can cut down on pollution and clean up what pollution they already caused.

Drive-In Theaters

April 28, 1971
Editor:
Dear Sir:

I am writing about the tearing down the 9W Drive-In. Of course everybody will be pleased with the new Mall, but what about movies?

Not everybody likes the Sun-set because it not only has a bad screen but the parking lot isn't built right. When you park your car on the hump you can't see the screen.

In my opinion there should be a variety of movies to see.
Sincerely yours,

Theatre Group Names Dr. Herr New President

NEW PALTZ Dr. John Herr, chairman of the Department of Theatre Arts at State University College, New Paltz, was recently elected president of the State University of New York Theatre Association.

The association is a new organization, for which the faculty of all the state university colleges are eligible. The aims of the group, according to Herr, are to communicate upon developments in the theatre arts among all the state university colleges, and to aid the two year colleges in the state in the transfer of students into the four year colleges and exchange information about mutual problems.

Daniel LaBrielle of Auburn Community College was elected vice president, and Ron Marquette of Adirondack Community College was elected secretary-treasurer.

Editor of the association's newsletter will be Sram Bakshi of State University College, Brockport. All terms were for one year.

Herr said from 20 to 25 colleges had already indicated a willingness to join the association, and they were hoping for a majority of the 66 colleges in the state university system to become members.

Paltz Day Care Center Gets Cooperative Board

NEW PALTZ An interim Cooperative Board for the center. The School of Education has plans for a center for migrant children, but parental control is at a minimum. The caucus wanted a center with strong parental control.

The joint proposal provides for two programs, one for migrant children with limited parental control, and one for other than migrant children, with strong parental control. Mrs. Ottaviana said the children could be mingled in the center if the aims of the two schools coincided. Parents would pay tuition to the center with strong parental control.

Cambodian Temple Shelled ... No Disciplinary Action Planned

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH (AP) — The Cambodian army apparently plans no disciplinary action against a captain who ordered an artillery barrage that did severe damage to Angkor Wat, Cambodia's national treasure. The huge 12th century temple was shelled three months ago, North Vietnamese soldiers last June. Government forces the government kept the incident secret. Angkor, the ancient Khmer ruins, which include the temple of Angkor Wat, capital in the northwest, was of Angkor Wat and the adjacent occupied by Viet Cong and Angkor Thom.

that fighting would damage the heavily damaged the south side of the area but was not punished, ap Angkor. The reports later were confirmed by a government ex-bat-mand believed that would hurt the army morale.

The shelling killed or maimed about 10 peasant refugees in a nearby pagoda and the sources reported the off from travelers returning from Angkor was built from the 9th to the 12th centuries as the capital of the Khmer empire. It was abandoned in favor of Phnom Penh in the 15th century after Thai invaders plundered and sacked the vast collections of temples, palaces and other buildings. The jungle temple, destroying the third floor of the southern gate, forgotten until the French discovered them.

The sources reported: The 105mm howitzer barrage hit the south side of the main temple, destroying the third floor of the southern gate. One shell smashed into the second-floor gallery and three more exploded in the gallery of away the jungle in the first history on the first floor, dam- part of this century and have aged a fresco depicting the story of the Khmer empire. Seven rounds also hit the nearby pagoda where the refugees were living.

Marines in Massive Recruiting Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marines ... And as for the Army's new recruiting slogan proclaimed in newspapers, radio and television ads—"To day's Army Wants to Join You"—Chapman says Marine recruits will know "nobody's joining them, they'll be joining us." The theme carried throughout Chapman's speeches is taken from the new Marine Corps recruiting philosophy drawn up by its advertising agency, J. Walter Thompson.

The idea will be carried over on recruiting posters soon to go up all over the country. One new poster shows a high school athlete walking along the street. The wording says

"If you just want to be one of the boys, stick with the boys. The Marines are looking for a few good men." Another poster from the ad agency shows a tough drill instructor chewing out a young recruit. "We never promised you a rose garden," it says. The old slogan, "The Marine Corps builds men," has been tossed out in favor of "We Want Good Men—And Then We Make Them Better."

recruit. "We never promised you a rose garden," it says. The old slogan, "The Marine Corps builds men," has been tossed out in favor of "We Want Good Men—And Then We Make Them Better."

Maybe "Today's Army wants to join you," but as far as the Marines are concerned, "nobody's joining them; they'll be joining us." The Army may have gotten the opening edge in the recruiting race with its $10.6 million experimental advertising campaign which began in March. But now the Marines have called in Madison Avenue to escalate the interservice rivalry with a campaign of their own which takes a few pot shots at the Army's pitch of a soft life and duty in Europe.

The Marines are emphasizing a small, tough elite force with no promises of the good life. "We're a tough club to join, a tough team to make," says Corps commandant Gen. Leonard F. Chapman. "And that's exactly the way we're going to keep it."

Marines will be trained the way they've always been trained, he says. "No compromises, no short cuts, no promises except one—they'll be

Healthy Baby Week Listed By Savago

KINGSTON
Healthy Baby Week has been proclaimed by Chairman of the Ulster County Legislature Peter J. Savago for the week of May 9-15.

In making the designation, Savago said, "We the citizens of Ulster County join with the National Foundation, March of Dimes and other leading service groups, in promoting information and education for Healthy Baby Week."

"The purpose and meaning of Healthy Baby Week is to establish and support research, education and community service, insure prenatal care for all women, provide for the benefits of skilled medical treatment and promote prevention of some quarter of a million birth defects in babies each year."

Savago concluded that "all effort and endeavor in the direction of securing the blessings of good health for ourselves and our posterity are valuable."

Heart Health

by Mid-Hudson Heart Association, Inc.

KINGSTON
In the past four years ten million Americans have given up cigarettes, yet women account for only 300,000 of this total. It is additionally estimated that the number of women in this country who presently smoke cigarettes is about 20 million.

These figures are particularly grave in the light of a major study made in Great Britain, which claims that there is new evidence that mothers who smoke face a significantly greater risk of stillbirth or death of babies shortly after birth than do non-smoking mothers. The study revealed that smoking during pregnancy harms the fetus by exerting a retarding influence on its growth.

Anyone, man or woman, who is interested in stopping smoking is invited to write or phone the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, 72 Main Street, Kingston, for the free pamphlet "How To Stop Smoking."

Kosygin Used 'Hot Line' During Seven-Day War

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson says Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin used the hot line during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war to warn that Moscow was prepared to take military action if necessary.

The warning came on the morning of June 10 after the forces of Soviet-supported President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and other Arab armies had suffered extensive defeats. Johnson said he responded by ordering the U.S. 6th Fleet closer to the Syrian coast as a "signal that the United States of America and its government was prepared for the situation that would confront it if it were confronted."

Ulster Hosts Region Golf

KINGSTON
More than 60 of the best junior college golfers on the east coast teed off this morning at 7:30 at the Wiltwyck Country Club as the Region XV Golf Tournament got underway. The event will conclude tomorrow.

For the first time in the tournament's history, Ulster County Community College is hosting the event. Bill Reilly, golf pro at Wiltwyck, is coordinating the tournament with UCCC athletic director, Mike Perry. Perry is the Senator's golf coach and the tournament director.

Post Junior College, the defending regional champion from Connecticut, will be defending its title in the tournament. A tough Orange County Community College squad, winners of 35 medalist matches in a row over the past three years, is rated as the pre-tournament favorite.

Other schools competing are: Ulster, Dutchess, Rockland, Sullivan, Westchester, Nassau, Suffolk, Staten Island, Kingsborough, Queensborough and Farmingdale.

Ulster's Joe Bostic, one of the top collegiate players in the state, has a possible advantage to be playing on his home course. The former Kingston High School star and winner of the state singles title last season for high schools, has averaged 76 for 18 holes during this season.

Bob Heins, the second-best player in the region, however, will be looking to attain the number one spot this time around. Heins hits an average 75 strokes per contest.

Also rated right in the thick of things is Paul Kelly of Dutchess. Kelly averages 75. Rockland's Terry Foxe could also make things hot for Bostic and Heins. Foxe is a 78.

Trophies will be given to the first eight medalists. Team trophies for first-second-third place will also be awarded, as well as six individual team trophies. There will be prizes for the longest drive and a closest-to-the-hole.

Zeeh-Lazar Take Title

ROCKLAND
Bill Zeeh and Jerry Lazar finished the season undefeated in doubles competition yesterday by winning the Mid-Hudson Conference doubles title at Rockland. The semi-finals had been postponed from last Saturday due to rain.

The wins by Zeeh-Lazar gave Ulster County Community College the overall team trophy for the event. Ulster had already won the regular-season, Mid-Hudson Conference tennis title.

In the semis, Zeeh and Lazar were awarded a 6-0, 6-0, default decision over Dennis Bakoleidis and Phil Courtois. The Dutchess squad couldn't field a team.

In the other semi-final match, the Dutchess County Community College number one team of

Eric Deyo and Pat Moshier beat

Rockland's Ted Barrell and

Arnie Rosenberg, 6-1, 6-4.

In the finals, Zeeh and Lazar won, 6-1, 6-2.

Both players received two trophies and UCCC coach Ed

Decker was presented with the team trophy.

"It was a good win for us," said Decker. "These two boys have played well all year. Klaus

Weber also won an important point for us in this tourney. We're proud of him also."

Kip Keino May Join Super Field

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The possibility that Kip Keino will join the Super Mile field headed by Jim Ryun and Marty Liquori at the International Freedom

Games here next Sunday was expressed Wednesday by meet

Director Bert Lancaster. Lancaster didn't overflow with optimism over the promised appearance of the Kenya superstar, which could make the meeting of Ryun and Villanova's greater runner a triple gem. "Keino said he is coming," Lancaster said at a mid-city news conference and then added "but the Ethiopian

Federation hasn't confirmed it

yet."

"Originally they wanted to send us three lesser known runners but we said 'no.' We asked for Keino. As a matter of fact, we'll take Keino and any other three runners they care to send along."

Lancaster said the Ethiopian

Air Lines would bring Kenya

entries, if any, gratis and the meet then would pick up their per diem expenses.

"Let's put it this way," Lancaster said, "if Kip is here

Saturday, there's a spot for him in Sunday's mile." Keino beat

Ryun in the 1968 Olympic 1,500

meters in Mexico and split his last two meetings with Liquori.

He beat the Villanova in an indoor mile here, and then he was beaten decisively outdoors

by Marty in the Freedom

Games at Villanova one year ago.

The Super Mile ran into

"rabbit fever" when it was announced both Liquori and

Ryun may have lost their pace setters for the event.

Arne Kvalheim of the Oregon

Track Club, coming East with

Ryun ostensibly in a rabbit

role, stepped into a hole

Monday and the resulting bruises make his appearance questionable.

Jumbo Jim Elliott of Villanova

said Chris Mason, the British born Wildcat, set to pace Liquori, pulled a calf

Joe Owens Steps Down as AD at New Paltz

NEW PALTZ — Joe Owens, athletic director of the State University College at New Paltz for the past two and one-half years, has made known his decision to step down as AD and resume full-time duties as an associate professor of physical education at the college.

Citing the tremendous workload in the position, and a desire to devote more time to writing and other outside interests, Owens stated: "After two and one-half years as athletic director, I feel that I have met the challenge and it has ceased to be one for me. It gives me great satisfaction to look back over my term as AD and to note the improvements that have come about in the performance of our teams."

Owens continued: "I certainly intend to retain my active interest in New Paltz athletics. And, I will do everything to assist in continuing the progress with Raschi on the Yankee list."

Dr. Richard Clegg, chairman of the Department of Physical Education, in accepting Owens' resignation, said: "Joe Owens has performed with quality, integrity, and determination through a most difficult year, due to the fiscal situation. He has met each of several crises and kept the program running."

"It is a credit to Owens, as well as to the coaches, that our record has been good this year, with notable improvements in soccer, cross country, baseball, track and tennis," concluded Clegg.

A 1954 graduate of Ithaca College, Owens was selected as the Most Valuable Football Player at that school and has enjoyed a successful high school and college career in baseball, football, basketball and wrestling. He received his MS from Ithaca in 1965, and has his Director's Certificate from Buffalo.

An author of 15 articles, Owens has been in great demand as an after-dinner speaker at various sports occasions in the area. Owens has agreed to stay on as AD until a new appointment can be made. He has been on the staff at New Paltz for five years.

Stottlemire Gains Win; Astros Nip Mets

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Move over Whitey Ford, Vic Raschi and Eddie Lopat. Allie Reynolds, Spud Chandler, Lefty Gomez, Red Ruffing, Waite Hoyt and Jack Chesbro—here comes Mel Stottlemire.

Stottlemire hurled the New York Yankees to a three-hit victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Wednesday night to continue his march toward the top of the all-time Yankee pitching list.

The victory was Stottlemire's 115th lifetime, just five short of ninth place Raschi. Ford heads the list with 236 career victories as a Yankee.

The complete game—his fourth of the season and 103rd lifetime—ties him for 11th place on the all-time Yankee list with Russ Ford. Ruffing leads the list with 274.

The shutout tied Stottlemire with the Houston Astros in the sixth inning Wednesday carried the Houston Astros to a 5-4 victory over the New York Mets.

The homer, Rader's first of the season, was hit over the left field fence after Roger Metzger and Joe Morgan opened the inning with back-to-back singles.

Mets' starter Tom Seaver almost survived the inning by striking out Jim Wynn for the third time and getting Norm Miller to pop out to shortstop. But Denis Menke lined a single up the middle to score Metzger with the first run of the game and Rader followed with his game-winning homer.

Post Position Draws for Preakness Stakes Today

BEING PREPARED — Venezuela's Canonero II was asked for a little speed for the first time Wednesday since arriving at Pimlico Race Course where he will run in the Preakness Saturday. Canonero did the five-eighths mile stretch in

Record Binge for Hawks

Every time the New Paltz State College track team hits the cinders, you can look for new records. They didn't fail in their latest outing, setting four new track and individual marks in a 109.36 rout of Siena College.

Coach Ed Bell's flying Hawks captured 15 of 17 first places in a day that saw star sprinter Kent Cseplo lower his own New Paltz 100 record from 9.9 to 9.7 seconds. He also doubled in a 22.4 clocking in the 220.

Joining Cseplo in the double circle were: Jim Munz (440), triple jump), and Paul Spadaro (mile and two miles).

Ray Jackman zipped the 120 yard high hurdles in 14.7 seconds, a new team and track record. Munz lowered his own 440 record to 51.2 seconds and the 440 relay team was clocked in a new standard of 43.6 seconds. The old mark was 43.7.

Making up the 440 relay team were Ed Heinsman, Barry Bloomfield, Sidney Way and Kent Cseplo. Omar Rodriguez won the 880. Bloomfield the mile and Vincent Leone the shotput for the Hawks.

Siena's two firsts were posted by Riggins in the discus and Kevin Wemett in the pole vault. The 7.2 Hawks were scheduled to host Lehman today.

New records

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — at every start that he had to be blindfolded to be led into the gate. The trainer also asked today for Saturday's running of the $150,000 added Preakness that an assistant starter be assigned to hold the colt's head worried as they were two weeks ago at Churchill Downs.

Then, 21 colts were scheduled to run in the Kentucky Derby and Churchill Downs officials wondered how they would get them all underway and trainers sweated out the draw.

But only 11 horses were expected to be entered for the second of the Triple Crown classics and post positions were not likely to play a vital role as they did in the Kentucky Derby.

Canonero II, the Kentucky Derby winner, broke from post position No. 12 in the Rose Run and the outside horse in the Preakness will be No. 11.

At Louisville, Canonero II defeated, among others, Jim French, Bold Reason, Eastern Fleet, Vegas Vic and Impetuosity, all of whom will be back for a second shot at the Kentucky-bred colt. He was shipped to Venezuela as a yearling and came back at three to win racing's most coveted prize despite numerous obstacles.

Executioner, Sound Off, Limit to Reason and Spouting Horn, who passed up the Kentucky Derby, complete the field.

While they did not care what post positions their colts drew, several trainers were concerned about how the young horses were handled at the starting gate.

Trainer Juan Arias was particularly concerned about Canonero II. He says the colt is just as good today as he was prior to the Kentucky Derby and he expects to grab the winner's purse of $137,400 from the total Preakness purse of $189,900.

But Arias asked starter Eddie Blind to load Canonero II into the starting gate last because the colt was so nervous.

Utah Stars Score

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Utah Stars overcame a case of second-half jitters and a melee Wednesday night to emerge with a 3-2 bulge over Kentucky in the final series for the American Basketball Association title.

The teams head back to Louisville for the sixth games Saturday. If necessary, a seventh game will be Tuesday at Salt Lake City.

Utah, which hit 49 per cent of its floor shots, rode a 75-point first half to a 137-127 win over the Colonels Wednesday night before a sellout crowd of 13,260 at the Salt Palace. But the Colonels kept shaving away at the 19-point deficit and finally whittled it down to 10 points at the final buzzer.

Kentucky outscored the Stars 71-62 in the final two periods but missed a couple of layups to cinch the contest for Utah.

"You just can't slow down in the pro leagues, even with a 19-point lead," said assistant Stars coach Larry Creger. "That's why they almost caught us."

Kentucky closed to within 87-73 with 6:02 left in the third period when things began to happen.

The intense pressure brought tempers to a high pitch and a scuffle broke out under the Utah basket between Star Willie Wise and Kentucky's Cincy Powell.

Utah's Ron Boone charged off the bench and took a few licks at Powell to trigger a free-for-all involving officials, coaches, players and fans alike.

After a 10-minute quieting down period, the action resumed with a technical called on Boone, Powell going to the dressing room for minor medical treatment and Wise taking two free throws.

That punch-in climaxed an eveninglong physical battle that saw Kentucky's Jim Ligon suffer a severe back strain in an under-the-basket collision with Red Robbins and Zelmo Beatty.

As for Saturday night's game, Ligon says he will play regardless of what the doctor says about his back. "I can go," he vowed. But for the moment, the veteran forward's back was hurting him so much he couldn't sit down following the game.

Kentucky coach Frank Ramsey was in the same position last Wednesday when the Stars took an easy second game win to move its series edge to 2-0.

"Right now, the pressure is on us," said Sharman's former Celtics teammate. "We have to win in Louisville Saturday or it will end in six."

Ramsey blamed a series of Colonel mistakes late in the contest as leading to the decisive loss.

"Mistakes are part of the game, and we made our portion of them," he said. "We missed layups—I can think of four dead layups we missed, two in the third and two in the fourth."

Sharman, on the other hand, was thinking about his team's health. Robbins had apparently recovered from a bad case of intestinal flu which greatly hampered his play in Louisville Friday and Saturday when Kentucky evened the series at 2-2.

Also, Sharman said Merv Jackson's knee is improved, but the former University of Utah star had to get a shot of cortisone before the game.

Creger said "Jackson's knee is still very bad, but he was as quick as he ever was. That Jackson is really an amazing player. That quickness was what he didn't have in the Louisville games."

With all of the physical contact, the scoring performances of two giants, Beatty of the Stars and Colonel Dan Issel, almost went unnoticed.

Issel scored 32 points and Beatty 31 in a duel reminiscent of their 40-point outputs last Wednesday night. But, the "Big Z" maintained his edge on the boards, grabbing 22 as compared to Issel's 16 rebounds.

Powell equaled Issel on the boards and scored 22 points.

Al Miller Is Speaker For UCCC Banquet

STONE RIDGE
Al Miller, nationally recognized soccer coach at Hartwick College, will be the guest speaker at the Ulster County Community College's annual Athletic Awards banquet Monday, May 14, Mike Perry, UCCC athletic director, has announced.

AL MILLER

The banquet will be held at the Capri 400 Restaurant in Port Ewen and will honor athletes on all the college's varsity teams.

Coach Miller, now in his fourth year as soccer coach at Hartwick in Oneonta, has produced some of the finest athletes that Hartwick has seen in recent years, many of them of all-America stature. His teams have never had a losing season and his soccer squads have compiled a 44-7-1 record since his arrival at Hartwick in 1967 from New Paltz State College.

His unbeaten, untied Warrior team (regular season) placed second in the NCAA Atlantic Coast Regional Tournament and spent 17 days touring Europe as Sports Ambassadors while compiling a 7-6-1 record against European teams. The 1968-69-70 squads accepted bids to play in the university division of the NCAA National Championships.

In 1968, the Warriors made it to the third round before being beaten by the University of Maryland, 2-1. In 1969, Hartwick advanced to the quarter finals before losing to Harvard University 1-0 in overtime and in 1970 they defeated Harvard

Plan Junior Football League

KINGSTON
The Exchange Club of Greater Kingston has voted to sponsor a junior football league, club president Celestino (Chil) Caruso has announced. It is planned to start the league next fall.

A special committee has been set up by Caruso to work on such details as the number of teams, group insurance, age and weight specifications for the players and appropriate by-laws.

A fund raising drive will be launched by the club to purchase the necessary equipment and provide adequate operating expenses.

The move by the Exchange Club marks the first concerted effort to establish junior football competition in the Kingston area. It not only teaches the fundamentals of football as a team sport, but also instills the first rudiments of sportsmanship and responsibility in the players.

The newly formed Exchange Club of Greater Kingston plans to sponsor the junior football league in whole through its Youth Committee, Caruso said. He said it would be one of many programs planned by the Exchange Club during the coming year.

It will be determined later if the local junior football league is to be affiliated with the national movement known as the Pop Warner League, which is the equivalent of Little League to small fry baseball.

American Lobster Boats Getting Trouble From Reds

BOSTON (UPI)—Soviet fishing vessels apparently are deliberately harassing American lobster boats in waters off New England.

The latest and most dramatic example came Wednesday when the Willy Fox, a lobster boat out of New Bedford, Mass., reported that a fleet of Soviet fishing vessels had steamed "in formation" across its lines, and confiscated much of its equipment. The incident took place about 85 miles south of Nantucket Island.

It was the second such incident involving the Willy Fox in 24 hours. There have been similar incidents within the past week and about 10 since April 1.

"Russian harassment of our fishing vessels has increased tenfold over a year ago," said Joseph S. Gaziano, president of Prelude Corp., owner of the Willy Fox, and the Pat San-Marie—two of about 60 U.S. lobster boats that fish in international waters off the New England coast. Most lobster fishing is done within U.S. territorial waters.

Officials of the 1st Coast Guard District in Boston confirmed they have in recent months received increased reports of American lobster boats being harassed by fishing vessels from other nations, especially the Soviet Union.

GENERAL TENDENCIES

The morning can bring an upset in dealing with another person unless you make a special point of saying and doing nothing which a partner feels is against him or against your joint interests. The rest of the day and evening is fine for working out plans for new efforts of a practical nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try not to enter into that argument that may ensure between a higher-up and an associate, then you can expect cooperation from both. If you handle credit wisely, financial affairs will improve. Avoid extravagance.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have some cherished aim that requires the assistance of a good friend for you to attain it. Seek this person out. Think constructively and be more broad-minded.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You had better wait until after you have completed important work before going out for recreation, and thereby impress bigwigs favorably. Get ahead faster that way. Try to please loved one in P.M.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't enter into that heated talk between kin and an outsider, or it can become a serious quarrel. Take time to discuss your mutual aims with associates. Clear up moot points.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Show co-workers that you will get right into the work ahead of you and thereby produce much in conjunction with them. Take the treatments you need to become a more dynamic, healthy person during spare moments. Get plenty of sleep.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you delve right into creative work you get big results and great satisfaction. Those you admire will give the right amount of support you need. Steer clear of extravagance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't get into any controversies at home that could lead to serious arguments. Try to improve home conditions instead and add to harmony. Invite others in and make a fine impression on them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Drive or walk with care. Keep the appointments you have made and go shopping with good results. Once your work is done, the evening can be ideal for enjoying the company of a loved one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Talk over with business experts how you can progress faster and listen to their advice carefully, follow it to the letter. Pay attention to some hunch you have.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) This is a perfect day for adding to present contacts, making new friends of real worth. Some social obligation can be repaid with ease and pleasure. Have a more optimistic attitude and get busy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you garner the data you need so that you know better what to do in the future, you can make far better progress. Morning may be a bit strange but later all is just fine. Enjoy company of a good friend.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Getting out with pals will help you forget whatever it is that is troubling you. Show that you are a sociable person. Some new acquaintance should be cultivated now so that you make a lasting friend of him or her.

One fellow who puts everything into his job is the hash cook.

They call those banquet orations "toasts" because they're dry and crumbly.

When gardening, it's customary to call a spade a $7.97.

Young men on the way up the ladder would do well not to forget the people holding it steady for them.

The only time we have a green thumb is when painting the garden fence.

TODAY... he or she will be one of those interesting young people with a mind of many facets who will want to make changes all the time just for the sake of experimentation. However by the time adulthood is reached, the mind will be set upon the right course to take in life. Then he or she will carry through along the right channel without deviation. There is much ability at organization here, so slant the education along such lines. Religious training early.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

TURNDOWN: (Q.) I'm not quite a teenager yet. I am in the sixth grade. I go to a nice school. I have nice teachers. I just broke up with a nice, intelligent girl. I didn't like her. A lot of girls are trying to get me to like them. None of them is good looking. But I can't tell them that, or that I don't like them. It will make them mad if I just come out and say it.

Can you tell me how to tell them to leave me alone?—Pestered in Alabama.

(A.) My, but you're young to be so much in demand. The demand will probably grow, so learn now the right way to say no to a girl honestly but not insultingly.

One nice way of being honest is to say: "Jane, you're a nice girl and a special friend of mine, but you're just not the girlfriend type for me."

Do not say things like that unless you're sure a girl is closing in on you. Many a boy makes the mistake of thinking that just because a girl smiles at him she's dying to have him as a boy friend.

BLACK: (Q.) I am black, and people in my class call me Black Spider and Black Rat. My best friend said once that I was blacker than dust. My boy friend said my arms are really black. Can you send me some of the stuff I saw in an advertisement? It said you can become three shades lighter.—Discouraged in New Jersey.

(A.) Creams will not erase your blackness. But the way you live can make it bright and proud. Be bigger than those who tease you. Ignore them. Refuse to let them wound you.

Miss USA — Glad It's Over

NEW YORK (AP) — Debbie Shelton is enjoying her final two weeks as, officially, the most beautiful girl in the United States. She will be the second beautiful girl in the universe for a while longer.

Debbie, the pride of Norfolk, Va., a brunette beauty of 22, will turn over her rhinestone crown and sceptre to her successor, Miss USA 1971 during the televised finals of the pageant on Saturday, May 22.

But she is looking forward to the end of her reign. Less than a month after her enforced retirement, she will marry a young Cuban exile—Vici Castro—no relation to Fidel—and settle down to life as the wife of a law student.

"It's been a pretty exciting year, and I think I've learned an awful lot," said Miss USA 1970. "I've traveled all over—the United States, Japan, Brazil, Spain, Portugal and to Puerto Rico a couple of times. I think the experience has matured me and made me aware of the world. I know I read newspapers a lot more these days. I've met a lot of people. I've learned about being interviewed—the hard way."

The only child of a Norfolk dentist, Debbie entered the local Miss Virginia contest as a defiant gesture after an argument with her then-boy friend. She won, went on to win the Miss USA title and then was runner-up in the Miss Universe contest. She met her fiancé during the Miami finals of the Miss USA contest last year.

"The beginning and the end of my year are tiring," she said. "I was exhausted after the Miss USA contest and tensions will build up this year, too."

She was modeling and doing TV commercials before becoming a beauty queen, so public appearances have not been nerve-racking. But she is pretty wary about interviews. The pageant people warned her to stop using a favorite word, "relationship" lest it be misunderstood. And there were some stormy reactions after interviews in which she expressed frank opinions on women's lib ("stupid and silly"); hot pants ("I like them"); and the war in Vietnam ("do something and get out or just get out period.")

"I really don't see why my opinions as Miss USA are any more important than they ever have been," she said. "I can't wait to be a housewife."

Debbie won $5,000 in cash, a $5,000 white mink coat and made another $5,000 for personal appearances during this year under contract to the promoters of the beauty contest.

Won't she find life after may be a big let-down?

"Heavens, no," said Miss USA, pulling her white mink close. "getting married is the most exciting thing that has ever happened to me. I can't wait to be a housewife."

Another Test for the State's Big Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's $7.69 billion budget, it's constitutionality upheld in a lower court, faced a new test today in New York's highest tribunal.

The State Supreme Court's Appellate Division found the contested spending plan constitutional Wednesday, reversing a ruling of unconstitutionality made by a State Supreme Court justice last week.

Immediately following Wednesday's decision, the state Civil Service Employees Association moved to bring the case today before the Court of Appeals, the state's highest.

The CSEA has been battling the budget since learning that 8,250 government jobs would be eliminated under its provisions.

The Court of Appeals heard the CSEA's appeal arguments today. Chief Judge Stanley H. Fuld had said the panel would stay over on Friday to consider the matter.

The state employees union, which represents virtually all of New York's 157,000 workers for bargaining purposes, has contended that the 1971-72 budget is unconstitutional because it contains lump-sum rather than line-item appropriations.

Much of the argument is based on a 1939 precedent, the case of The People vs. Morris Tremaine, then state comptroller.

The budget was declared unconstitutional on that occasion, and the state was run on temporary funds until a new money bill was passed by the legislature and signed by the governor. The present legislature likewise will go into extended session if the budget is found unconstitutional by the Court of Appeals.

In finding for the state Wednesday, the Appellate Division noted that the 1939 decision did not call for itemizing budget appropriations to the extent now sought by the CSEA. In the same vein, the court pointed out the marked difference in size of the two budgets — $410 million in 1939 compared with the present $7.69 billion.

The appellate court said that the 1939 finding "does not mandate the submission and enactment of a line-item budget in the form contended by the plaintiffs."

Quoting from the case, the court stated that "we must remember . . . that details must not run into absurdities and only those details need be given of the constitution made by the Court of Appeals in the 1939 case."

"The appropriations so far as practicable or possible are to be itemized as submitted, and the limitation on the legislature is to reduce or strike out the items."

But the Appellate Division saw an ill defined gray area between lump - sum and line-item:

"In between the two extremes, we must rely on the executive and legislative branch and local assistance."

of the government to provide a budget sufficiently itemized to comply with the spirit and words of the constitution and yet containing lump - sum appropriations when experience in the line of work or in the department shows that details and items in a budget would be impracticable or impossible — unworkable."

The CSEA believes that three sections of the budget should have been more detailed — capital construction, state purposes and legislative branch and local assistance.

LAKE GOES DRY — The only reminder that a lake once existed on this almost dry piece of land at Frog City, Fla., is a sign forbidding any fishing. South Florida's worst drought has almost completely dried this portion of an Everglades canal and lake which was once bustling with airboats and canoes in this small community. Locally there has been no real problem lately with plenty of rain in recent weeks especially during the weekends. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

A Rough Albany Time

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Women's lib and activist college students had a rough time in the Assembly Wednesday.

The overwhelmingly male, middle-aged chamber rejected a bill to ban sex discrimination in recruiting or promotions, and passed a measure to bar students from using the 18-year-old vote to take over local governments.

The recruiting bill, by Mrs. Constance Cook, R-Ithaca, fell five votes short of passage when numerous men claimed it could lead to a "quota system" for hiring from all races, creeds, sexes, and ethnic groups.

While voting for the bill, Assemblyman Guy R. Brewer, D-Queens, said it "might make it obligatory on the Playboy Club to hire male bunnies."

Mrs. Cook, who was turned down by Harvard Law School on grounds of sex, claimed companies get around the current ban on sex discrimination in hiring by simply refusing to interview women applicants.

But it was Mary Ann Krupak, D-Amsterdam, the second of three women in the 150-seat chamber, who drew some snickers and jokes by endorsing the bill.

"I think it's a disgrace," she said, "when women law students say they can't be interviewed by these big firms — but they would be if they promised to sleep with the senior partners."

"Hear, Hear," several men responded in chorus. The election bill, by Assemblyman Peter Biondo, R-Ossining, would set up residency standards that would force almost all college students to vote by absentee ballot in their hometowns, instead of where they attend school.

When Assemblyman Leonard Stavisky, D-Queens, said he favored closer ties between students and local governments, George Farrell, R-Floral Park, cited Alfred, a village with 1,000 residents and 4,000 students at Alfred University.

"Are you saying that those 4,000 students should participate in the village elections, voting for a mayor and the village board, and even the school board elections?" Farrell asked.

Stavisky reiterated his views, "God help us," Farrell said, who enjoy the camaraderie of the volunteer groups.

The bill was approved 89-46 and sent to the Senate.

Also sent to the Senate was a bill by Lucien Russo, R-State, 7½ per cent ceiling on conventional home mortgages until Sept. 1, 1972.

In the other chamber, the Senate sent to the governor a bill to let firemen join volunteer departments in their home communities.

The bill was designed for New York City firemen, particularly those living in Nassau County, who enjoy the camaraderie of the volunteer groups.

And the senate sent to the assembly a bill by Sen. Thomas Laverne, R-Rochester, to upgrade the definition of nursing.

The measure was strongly supported by nurse groups, but opposed by the State Medical Society because it refers to some "diagnosing" by nurses.

"The medical society would have accepted anything, including frontal lobotomy," Laverne said, "if we put everything under the supervision of doctors."

Rocky's Dilemma — What Will Hurt Least

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Additional state spending during the current 1971-72 fiscal year — including more aid to parochial schools — will require new or higher taxes.

Governor Rockefeller told a news conference Wednesday that New York faces a budget deficit and he can see no way to give hard - pressed private schools help without digging deeper into the taxpayers' pockets.

The question is what new or heavier tax will hurt the state's economy least.

"There is just no money," the governor said. "The budget experts of the legislature are working with my budget force in trying to work out the problem."

Rockefeller's position conflicts somewhat with Republican legislative leaders, who hinted they might be able to "find" enough parochial school aid in current reserve funds. They were talking about $30 million or $35 million more than was approved last year.

"The big question is what tax will have the least adverse effect on the localities," the governor said.

New or increased taxes will also be needed if there is any change in state aid to cities. He explained Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York would have to work out his own problem with the city council.

"The city is trying to pass its responsibilities on to Albany," he said. "It will be up to the mayor and the city council to come up with the answers to their own problems."

During the recent battle over Rockefeller's original request for a $1.1 billion tax hike, there was a tentative agreement among dissenters and the GOP leadership.

Dissenters, including those from central New York, finally went along on a one per cent retail sales tax increase and higher business taxes if Rockefeller dropped his request for jumps in other levies.

Assembly Speaker Perry Duryea, however, had one reservation.

He said he would not support any other tax increase unless it was for giving more aid to parochial schools.

Now supporters of revenue sharing would like to make the new tax big enough to support their project.

Rockefeller maintained new taxes would also have to be approved to put back the $75 million cut in state aid to cities.

"If revenue sharing were restored, there would have to be moneys appropriated to pay for it," he said.

Duryea Takes Hard Line On Lindsay Money Bid

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — New York City's budget problems could be solved in two hours, according to Governor Rockefeller.

But determined opposition today from Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea hindered work on Mayor Lindsay's request for $890 million in new taxes.

The Long Island lawmaker, apparently holding to a harder line than either Rockefeller or Senate Republican Leader Earl W. Brydges, maintained the city council should go deeper into the budget problem, making spending cuts and announcing which taxes they will ultimately pass.

A source close to Duryea said it was not sufficient for the council to "send 12 home rule messages up here on a hot potato."

A spokesman said the speaker was not refusing to do work on the tax requests, but would not let the Assembly act on it until the council did more of its "homework" on the budget. Meanwhile, Lindsay cancelled a planned trip to Seattle next week, in anticipation of being summoned to Albany for the annual 11th hour bargaining sessions.

But when newsmen asked Rockefeller Wednesday if he had invited the mayor up yet, he quipped, "what for?"

He added that it was "too early to tell" how fast the budget problem would be wrapped up.

"The leaders will have to make the decision as to how they want to proceed," Rockefeller said.

The governor said it was possible, but not probable, that the legislature would adjourn next week without acting on the city requests.

He again chided the council for "making us do their work for them."

He noted that two weeks ago he conferred in the Red Room with top labor leaders, who reportedly asked him to draw up a realistic budget for the city.

"And I said," Rockefeller recalled, "look . . . the reason is very simple. If I were mayor and was sitting here, we could do this in two hours. But as it happens, I'm not the mayor, and this is the responsibility of the city of New York."
